SOURCE EVALUATIONS ARE DEFINITIVE. APPRAISAL OF CONTENT IS TENTATIVE.

1. The depot is 400 meters long and 1,500 meters deep, and extends as far as the crest line at the south end of the road. The low buildings of the depot, which are widely dispersed, are made of wood, have tile roofs, and are 50 x 10 meters in size. There are also smaller buildings here, bringing the total number of buildings to 20. 25X1
2. There is a road which runs into the Sofia-Kazanluk road. No branch railroad has been seen running into the main railroad line, which passes south of the depot. The depot is not visible from the main railroad line. Artillery officers and men were seen several times in the depot area or in its vicinity. This was especially true on 21 May. On this day, a truck and a horse-drawn box car loaded with rifle troops halted in front of the depot.
3. The depot is strongly guarded by at least 30 men. Powerful lights illuminate the area during the night. No underground depots are known to exist in Dolno-Kamartsi. (See sketch on page 2.)
