1. A new town named Lunca Pomosului is under construction to accommodate the 25X1 employees of the Resita metallurgical plants. The area under construction is located about two kilometers north of the town of Montana, or about two kilometers north of the Resita metallurgical plants. The town extends above five kilometers in length but is only a few hundred meters in width. Lunca Pomosului is connected by two bus lines to Resita-Montana and Resita-Romana.
2. The buildings completed to date, representing sixty percent of those planned, are destined solely for workers in the Resita metallurgical plants and various State stores which will serve the area. The majority of the buildings already completed and occupied are comprised of blocks of three and four floors with family apartments. There also exists a block currently occupied by bachelors and known as "Block 800" because it contains 800 identical rooms, each room being occupied by four people.
3. There are approximately 80,000 people employed by the Resita Combine. Of this number it is necessary to deduct those who work in sections not located in Resita proper but also belonging to the Combine. The towns of Montana and Lunca Pomosului account for more than 10,000 inhabitants without including the military and security units stationed there.
4. The Soviet strength is composed of several hundred civilians who participate in the various specialized commissions assigned to the Combine.
