1. The Mao Tse Dun and Resita factories in Rumania are now working on five complete electric power plants for China. The local populace is obviously disgusted at this continued drain on the Rumanian economy and [redacted] said that "they always seem to pick on Rumania for jobs like these." 25X1
2. There has not been any firewood available on the free market since 15 September 1955. There has been no public announcement of the fact, but in the future wood will be used almost exclusively for industrial purposes and coal will be substituted as a fuel for heating and cooking. This will work a hardship on the Rumanian people as their stoves are not suitable for coal. 25X1
