1. We have restudied the referenced materials pertaining to the administration of the Personnel Pool and believe that enough common agreement exists among the interested offices to adopt and put into operation the following principles:

- a. The Personnel Pool will be operated by the Office of Personnel with the objective of maintaining a constant reserve of support-clerical personnel for assignment as regular turn-over replacements and to supply expanding staffing requirements. The Personnel Pool serves as the medium through which the Agency holds such support-clerical personnel through the period of their security clearance, and, subsequently, until requirements for their specific assignments develop.
- b. Composition of the Personnel Pool will be limited to support-clerical and skilled or trade personnel.
- c. The Office of Personnel will enter on duty for the Personnel Pool (for support-clerical positions) only persons who meet the standards of proficiency for the grade for which they are recruited, or those whose capabilities are definitely determined by the Office of Personnel to be at levels which assure that acceptable standards of proficiency will be reached through the training which will be conducted during their tenure in the Pool.
- d. All support-clerical personnel assigned to the Personnel Pool must participate in a full-time training course of at least two weeks' duration, conducted by the Office of Training. Satisfactory completion of the course will be a prerequisite to placement within the Agency. Where an employee fails to attain adequate capability levels, the Office of Training will determine the feasibility of providing additional training. If a determination is made that additional training would not be profitable, the Office of Personnel will ascertain the availability of another position not requiring the skills which the employee is unable to develop; if such reassignment possibility does not exist, the individual will be separated for failure to qualify. Personnel will be excused from attendance at all or part of the training course only in those cases where the Office of Training decides that an individual's attained proficiency justifies such action.

e. Since certain portions of the full training course content are of a classified character, each employee must have at least two or three days of training after full security clearance is issued, such training to be given prior to the employee's release from the Personnel Pool.

f. Support-clerical personnel who are entered on duty only after full security clearance must complete the same training as that (Paragraphs 1 d. and e.) required of persons who are assigned to the Pool while awaiting security clearance. This training requirement must be satisfied before the Office of Personnel will give clearance for personnel in support-clerical categories to report to the operating offices for their regular duty assignment.

g. Provisionally cleared support-clerical personnel in the Pool will be detailed to perform work projects at such times as they are not required to participate in training programs in accordance with the foregoing statement of training standards. The Office of Personnel will accept work projects from operating offices only if such projects do not entail deadline completion dates. In addition, the Office of Personnel will accept such work projects only in an amount consistent with the Pool's capacity to bring such work to completion in a reasonable period.

2. In order to clarify the situation now existing with respect to the Personnel Pool, I strongly recommend your approval of the plan outlined in the foregoing paragraphs.
