Date 1 February 1963

1. OCI Memo of 24 January to DCI of Situation Summary on Developments in Eastern Tibet and Yunnan Province as of 22 January 1963 which contains no unusually significant developments but does report some new items and confirmation on air fields, military installations, industry and transportation. 25X1

2. OCI Memo, "The East German Party Congress" indicating that Khrushchev in effect conceded that the USSR was not now in a position to press Western powers on a Berlin settlement which would meet even minimal Communist demands. (OCI No. 0479/63)

5. OCI Memorandum of 31 January on "Indonesian Policy Toward Malaysia" states that Sukarno's attitude toward Malaysia (a federation composed of Malaya, Singapore, Sarawak, Brunei, and British North Borneo) appears to be rooted in Indonesian' expansionism, fed by hostility toward Western colonialism and antipathy toward the Malayan government, which Sukarno regards as pro-Western.
