DD/I reported that a memorandum had been prepared which reviews the Harrison Salisbury articles on China that appeared in the New York Times. The articles are good and generally correct in their assessment of the situation in China but there are some points of oversimplification or overstatement. The Director asked that the memorandum be reviewed by ONE and given to him during the course of the morning for possible dissemination to the White House.

DD/I reported that the report [REDACTED] on the views of the North Vietnamese Political Counselor [REDACTED] concerning the effects of bombing on Hanoi had been reviewed carefully. He noted that it is generally correct but is in error on many specifics. The Director stated that this is the sort of report which creates a good deal of interest around town and asked DD/I to consider the feasibility of disseminating the critique to certain individuals outside the Agency.
