Colonel White:

[Large redacted block]

b) Reported the Director should soon receive a written request from the Department of State for $4,000 which would represent the tuition fee of the CIA representative selected to attend the Department's Senior Officer School which opens for the first time this Fall.

c) Noted that the Training bill has now become law; however, it does not become effective for 270 days. He said that Hr. Houston is preparing for the Director's approval, a request to the President for certain Agency exceptions to this law.

d) Noted that [redacted] will have to retire in about 11 months on reaching the age of 70. He said that likely candidates for replacement are either scheduled to go overseas or are already overseas and suggested that rather than interrupt their schedule that [redacted] be asked to stay on another year. Colonel White went on to say that in all probability [redacted] would make the best replacement for [redacted]

Mr. Wisner:

a) Noted that the dinner last night for [redacted] 25X1 had gone extremely well and that he [redacted] had been outgoing and in fact 25X1 made the statement that he wanted to be considered [redacted] 25X1
The Director said he had been considering whether or not he should reorganize his dinner [redacted] and on balance felt it would be better to have a smaller dinner at his residence after [redacted] 25X1
[redacted]

c) Noted he had made very careful notes of the Director's presentation to the JCS on 9 July 1958 and stated he intended to circulate these notes to the senior officials of the Agency. The Director concurred.

[redacted]

Referred to the Bureau of the Budget analysis of the cost of strategic intelligence and asked the Director if he was ready to discuss this matter. The Director said he wished to take it up with General Cabell upon his return and that he had about decided the data in question should be circulated to the members of the IAC.
[redacted] noted his agreement and pointed out that he firmly believed the IAC members should receive this information compiled by the Bureau of the Budget in order to prepare an agreed upon outline of how such information should be submitted in future years, particularly since the President's Board of Consultants can be expected to ask DCI the action taken on the paper in question.

[redacted]

Reported that as a result of the Far Eastern trip taken by Mr. Macy of the Bureau of the Budget to look over our activities in that area, Macy had been discussing with him procedures to evaluate our activities. [redacted] on to say that he believed this could best be handled by acquainting Mr. Macy with our system of checks and balances, [redacted] [redacted] The Director approved.

Mr. Kirkpatrick:

a) Noted he had received a call from Bob McCullen of State respecting the escapee problem and had been advised that McCullen had asked why the U.S. Government pays the expenses of these escapees rather than loaning them the money. The Director asked DD/P to get in touch with Mr. McCullen on this matter.

[redacted]

b) Noted that the Department of State has drafted a letter to Dr. Killian, the President's Scientific Advisor, recommending that he appoint a panel to consider a system that might be agreed upon with the Soviets in order to prevent surprise attacks by either the U.S. or the U.S.S.R. Mr. Sheldon noted that the Watch Committee, and in particular [redacted] could be of a great deal of assistance to the panel. The Director commented that any such system devised would be of interest to this Agency and asked [redacted] to obtain a copy of the proposed letter to Dr. Killian prior to final approval.

Mr. Dulles:

a) Reported on his meeting with General Twining and others on comparative estimates and noted that the committee appointed on this subject had agreed to accept three or four of our proposed items for study, e.g., radar, submarines, and nuclear capabilities. The Director also said this Agency had been asked to prepare memoranda on U.S.S.R. bacteriological and chemical warfare capabilities and noted that after consultation with the DD/I it had been decided that [redacted] ONE, would be the CIA focal point for Agency activities in the comparative estimates field.
