MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Central Intelligence

FROM: Michael J. Malanick
Acting Deputy Director for Administration SUBJECT: CIA Guest Speaker Program - Invitation to Mr. David Rockefeller
REFERENCE: Memo to DCI from ADDA, dated 2 September
1977, Same Subject (ER 77-9018)

1. Action Requested: It is requested that you sign the attached letter to Mr. David Rockefeller, Chairman of the Board of the Chase Manhattan Bank, inviting him to be the CIA Guest Speaker on Tuesday, 8 November, at 3:00 p.m. in the Headquarters auditorium. The suggested topic is "Trends in International Banking and Their Impact on Foreign Relations." It is also requested that you introduce Mr. Rockefeller, if he accepts, and approve having the program videotaped for use in training courses.

2. Background: In reviewing our proposed CIA Guest Speaker List for 1977-78 (see reference), you indicated your preferences in this order: (a) Mr. Thomas Hughes, (b) Mr. Christopher Bertram, (c) Mr. Theo Sommer, and (d) Mr. David Rockefeller. Mr. Hughes has declined our invitation to speak. Messrs. Bertram and Sommer are foreign nationals residing abroad. We will try to arrange for their appearance when they next visit the United States. We therefore moved to invite Mr. Rockefeller and have been told by his secretary that his custom is to ask for a letter of invitation.

3. Recommendation: It is recommended that you sign the attached letter of invitation to Mr. Rockefeller, agree to introduce him, and approve the videotaping of the program.

Dear Mr. Rockefeller:

My colleagues in intelligence and I extend a cordial invitation to you to give the CIA Guest Speaker lecture on Tuesday, 8 November 1977, at 3:00 p.m., in the CIA Headquarters Auditorium at Langley, Virginia. The topic we would suggest, although we would be glad to consider another, is "Trends in International Banking and Their Impact on Foreign Relations."

The CIA Guest Speaker Program brings to CIA employees and guests from other agencies of the Intelligence Community the viewpoints of outstanding academicians and government officials on areas of concern to the Intelligence Community. Among our distinguished speakers have been Zbigniew Brzezinski, Michael Blumenthal, John Fairbank, John Kenneth Galbraith, and Peter Peterson, to name only a few.

Our Guest Speaker Program consists of a formal lecture of approximately 45 minutes followed by a 30-minute question period. We can assure you of a responsive audience of up to 500. The Guest Speaker honorarium is $500 in addition to transportation.

If 8 November is not convenient for you, we would be happy to discuss an alternative date. Our program runs on the second Tuesday of the month. Our Special Programs Officer, [redacted] will be pleased to discuss any detail of the arrangements with you. She may be reached on [redacted]

Yours sincerely,

MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Central Intelligence
VIA : D/DCI/NI FROM :
SUBJECT : Comment on CIA Guest Speaker Program

STAT

1. Action required: None; the following is the comment you requested.

2. So far as they are known to me the list of prospective speakers is excellent. I assume that everyone would have names he (or she) would like to add. My own nominees, with brief justifications, are as follows:

3. First, in a class by himself, a virtually unique observer of the European scene from the West German perspective:

Theo Sommer, editor, Die Zeit, Hamburg; suggested subject, "The Two Germanys in Tomorrow's Europe."

Sommer speaks perfect English, has a fine analytic mind, and knows European politics as well as any one man can. He visits the U.S. frequently.

A very close second (I am not quite as confident of his speaking ability and his English is not quite perfect):

8

Pierre Hassner, Centre d'etudes politiques, Paris; suggested subject, "Europe and the Gaullist Heritage."

A second-place tie:

Hedley Bull, Montague Burton Professor of International Relations, University of Oxford; suggested subject: "The future of Arms Control by International Agreement."

Bull has been thinking constructively about arms control and disarmament longer than most of us. An Australian, he has always spoken his mind freely and superbly.

4. Of knowledgeable and known Americans, I suggest the following obvious additions to the list:

William Buckley, "A Conservative's Perspective on the United States in World Affairs." (already on list)

J. Kenneth Galbraith, "Does Capitalism Have a Future?" (he spoke recently)

Henry Kissinger, "Reflections on Intelligence and Foreign Policy."

5. Finally, from Newport I can strongly recommend the following younger scholars, both acute analysts and first-class speakers whose audiences, even if small, will be enthusiastic:

John Lewis Gaddis, Professor of History at the University of Ohio, author of United States Foreign Policy and the Cold War. Suggested subject, "National Strategy and Foreign Policy."

Richard Ned Lebow, Associate Professor of Political Science at the City University of New York (on leave of absence), author of White Britain and Black Ireland: Stereotypes and the Anglo-Irish Colonial Relationship. Suggested subject, "On Ireland: Will the Troubles Never Cease?"

MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Central Intelligence

VIA: John F. Blake
Acting Deputy Director of Central Intelligence

FROM: Michael J. Malanick
Acting Deputy Director for Administration

SUBJECT: CIA Guest Speaker Program

REFERENCE: Memo to DCI from John F. Blake, DDA, dated 11 August 1976, Same Subject
(ER 76-8898)

1. Action Requested: Your approval is requested of the attached list of proposed CIA Guest Speakers and tentative topics and the proposed (somewhat revised) operating procedures governing the program.

2. Background: The CIA Guest Speaker Program was inaugurated in October 1973 to provide intellectual stimulus to Agency employees through contact with the thinking of scholars, officials, and other experts outside the Agency. The program is held about six times a year in the CIA auditorium on the second Tuesday of the month, from 1500 to 1630. All employees are invited to the lectures, which are unclassified and off the record, and tickets are distributed through the Intelligence Community Staff to other agencies of the Intelligence Community. Since October 1973, there have been 31 guest speakers, including Zbigniew Brzezinski and Michael Blumenthal, both at the time in private capacity. (We carry them in the attached list also because of the desirability of hearing from them at some future time in their official capacities.) Other speakers have included Kelly Johnson, father of the U-2; Ambassador-at-Large Ellsworth Bunker; Joseph J. Sisco, President of American University; John K. Fairbank, China scholar of Harvard University; and John Kenneth Galbraith, the well-known economist and former Ambassador to India. As you know, the auditorium address of Senator Daniel K. Inouye, on 17 June 1977, was under the aegis of the CIA Guest Speaker Program.

SUBJECT: CIA Guest Speaker Program

Although the program has varied widely in attendance and content, we regard it as a success. Attendance for the 1976-77 program ranged from 175 to 600 (an overflow). Average attendance has been about 370. The program has been conducted as a voluntary activity, with no effort to drum up audiences. The Intelligence Community attendance for the best-known speakers has been good. It is clear that the size of the audience has depended upon the renown of the speaker, not the value of the topic.

3. Proposed Operating Procedures:

a. Criteria for Selection. The following criteria for selection will govern the program:

(1) The subject matter to be covered should have a significant bearing on the intelligence profession or on international affairs.

(2) The subject matter should affect, or be of concern, to a broad cross section of Agency personnel--or to at least several Agency components--in order to warrant inviting a large audience.

(3) The person making the presentation should be well known and genuinely knowledgeable about the subject matter. In general, we seek the kind of speaker who is at the forefront of his subject.

(4) The speaker should be effective in communicating with a large audience representing disparate backgrounds.

b. Categories of Speakers. The speakers will be drawn from the academic world, foundations, the business community, the media, Congress, and the executive departments of government.

c. Numbers of Programs. Six per year, but this number may be exceeded if circumstances warrant.

d. Time. Second Tuesday of the month, 1500-1630.

e. Place. CIA Headquarters Auditorium.

SUBJECT: CIA Guest Speaker Program

f. Fee. $500 honorarium, plus round-trip, economy-class transportation. U.S. Government employees are not permitted to receive an honorarium.

g. Management of the Program. By the Office of Training (Special Programs Officer).

h. Policy Approval. Via this memorandum and any subsequent speaker lists or invitations submitted to you. Approval will be limited by any qualifying statements you may affix to the attached list or otherwise provide.

i. Invitations to Speakers. Official invitations will be extended by letter from you or your designated representative. In advance of a letter, the Special Programs Officer of the Office of Training is authorized to extend a telephonic invitation in your name, but in the sensitive cases described in paragraph k., below, only if they are first cleared with you.

j. Security Approvals. Not required, but each proposed speaker will undergo an internal indices check by the Office of Security before being invited.

k. Special Approvals of Sensitive Cases. Members of Congress, representatives of the media, and politically sensitive cases will be submitted to you for specific approval at the time of invitation.

l. Distribution of Tickets. Via component Training Officers to each Directorate and the DCI area; via the Intelligence Community Staff to the Intelligence Community; via OTR to the Foreign Service Institute and Defense schools and colleges. Seats will be held for ticket holders until five minutes prior to the scheduled lecture, at which time non-ticket holders will be admitted to the extent space is available.

m. Visits in Advance of the Lecture. You will be given an opportunity to meet with the speaker in advance of the lecture.

n. Introductions. You will be given an opportunity to introduce the speaker.

SUBJECT: CIA Guest Speaker Program

4. Staff (and other) Positions: Contributions to the attached list have been made by the Assistant to the Director for Public Affairs and the Legislative Counsel. Other components' contributions have been solicited, especially in geographic areas where we lacked candidates.

5. Recommendation: That you approve this memorandum and the attached list. We welcome any additions, deletions, or comments.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Central Intelligence
FROM : John F. Blake
Deputy Director for Administration
SUBJECT : CIA Guest Speaker Program

1. Purpose: The purpose of this memorandum is to obtain your approval of a list of proposed CIA Guest Speakers and tentative topics, and to solicit your recommendations as to additions to the list and your comments or qualifying statements with respect to any individual candidate or category of candidates. The list, which is attached, has been screened within each of the Directorates and by Mr. Falkiewicz. Our purpose is also to seek your approval of the operating procedures governing the program.

2. Background: The CIA Guest Speaker Program was inaugurated in October 1973 to provide intellectual stimulus to Agency employees through contact with the thinking of scholars, officials, and other experts outside the Agency. The Program has been held nine times a year (with a few exceptions) in the CIA Auditorium on the second Tuesday of each month, from 3 to 5 p.m. All employees have been invited to the lectures, which are unclassified, and tickets have been distributed through the Intelligence Community Staff to other agencies of the Intelligence Community.

Since October 1973, there have been 24 Guest Speakers, including, for example, Zbigniew Brzezinski, Director of the Research Institute on Communist Affairs of Columbia University; Ambassador-at-Large Ellsworth Bunker; Wernher von Braun, Director of the George C. Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville; and Kelly Johnson, father of the U-2. The goal has been to have well-known speakers in the forefront of their fields, speaking on topics of relevance to intelligence.

We regard the program as a success. Attendance has ranged from 200 to over 500, with an average attendance of over 300. Attendance by representatives of the Intelligence

ADMINISTRATIVE -- [REDACTED]

Approved For Release 2004/02/19 : CIA-RDP80M00165A001200140007-0

Community has been consistently good. Employee comments have been favorable. Although we are well satisfied with the program, we have found it difficult to sustain the high level through nine programs a year and are proposing below that it be limited to six. We are also proposing a broadening of the categories of those invited to speak.

Our procedure in the past has been to have lists of proposed Guest Speakers, together with tentative topics approved in advance by the Director of Central Intelligence, in whose name invitations are extended. DCI approval of a list has been an indication of policy approval only. A security approval has also been obtained before the extension of an invitation. We have been working from three approved lists, the last one approved on 20 March 1975.

3. Criteria for Selection: The following criteria for selection govern the program:

a. The subject matter to be covered should have a significant bearing on the work of the Agency, the Intelligence Community, or high-level intelligence customers;

b. The subject matter should affect or be of concern to a cross section of Agency personnel or to at least several Agency components in order to warrant inviting a large audience;

c. The person making the presentation should be well-known and genuinely knowledgeable about the subject matter. In general we seek the kind of speaker who is at the forefront of his subject; and

d. He or she should be effective in communicating with a large audience representing disparate backgrounds.

4. Categories of Speakers: Most of our speakers in the past three years have come from the academic world with only a few from the executive departments of the U.S. Government, the business community, and the media. We have had no representatives from Congress. In the attached list we have included the latter as well as additional representatives of the other categories. A few critics of the Agency are on the list. In our view all have contributions to make to this Agency in enlarging our appreciation of the place of intelligence in a democratic society. Because of the sensitivity of inviting members of the media and of Congress, we propose to treat these two categories as ones requiring additional clearance at the time of invitation. Similarly, we would not invite anyone involved in an election campaign until these are over and, even afterward, would seek specific approval before extending an invitation.

Mr. Falkiewicz has suggested the inclusion also of Robert McNamara, President of the World Bank, and the Ambassadors to the United States of Great Britain and West Germany. He suggests that we let these (and perhaps other) foreign nationals and officials of international organizations decide for themselves the appropriateness of speaking to CIA. I have no doubt of the value to us of such presentations and am listing their names in the attachment, out of alphabetical order, as a special category. In these cases we would seek your specific approval and also initiate any action through you.

5. Operating Procedures

a. Number of Programs - six per year, three in the fall and three in the spring. (This represents a change from the nine programs of past years.)

b. Time - second Tuesday of the month, 3-5 p.m.

c. Place - CIA Headquarters Auditorium.

d. Fee - $500 honorarium plus round-trip transportation (the fee we now offer). Of course, U.S. Government employees do not receive a fee.

e. Management of the program, including selection of speakers from the approved list - by the Office of Training (Special Programs Officer), subject to the restrictions indicated below.

f. Policy Approval - via this memorandum and any subsequent speaker lists submitted to you. Approval will be limited by any qualifying statements you may affix to the attached list or otherwise provide.

g. Special Approvals - Members of Congress, representatives of the media, and politically sensitive cases will be submitted for your additional approval on a case-by-case basis. Any action on the names in the special category will be initiated through you.

h. Security Approvals - where not already available, will be obtained after policy approval and in advance of the invitation to speak.

i. Distribution of Tickets - via component training officers, to each Directorate and the DCI area; and, via the Intelligence Community Staff, to the Intelligence Community.

j. Invitations to Speakers - by the Office of Training in the name of the Director of Central Intelligence (unless we receive a prior indication from you or we ourselves conclude that a personal invitation from you or another officer is more appropriate). As indicated, the special category will be invited only through you.

In the past it has been customary for the Director, when convenient, to visit for a few moments with the CIA Guest Speaker in advance of the lecture. We believe that this practice pays dividends in good will for the Agency and would hope it could continue.

6. Attached List of Speakers and Topics

The attached list of speakers and topics is submitted for your approval. Any additions, deletions, comments, or limitations you wish to make would be appreciated. If you wish to have more identifying data, we will be glad to supply it.
