Dear Admiral Turner,

I want to thank you for the opportunity to visit your headquarters along with my CIA Advisor, [redacted] during the period 1-2 September and to receive a series of special briefings from members of your staff. It was a meaningful and informative visit, and I left your headquarters with a much greater insight into the complexities involved in the management and operation of an organization such as yours. I was impressed with the quality of your personnel and your excellent training programs.

It was a productive visit, and I would like to extend my special thanks for the outstanding assistance and support provided by [redacted]

[redacted]
Testing Facility. They obviously know their business and appear to be making a significant contribution to the Agency and to the US Government.

Again, please accept my personal thanks. I want to assure you that you can count on the continued support of the JFK Center and Institute for Military Assistance in any way that you deem appropriate.

Sincerely,

Jack V. Mackmull

Dear General Mackmull:

Upon my return from a brief trip to some of our activities overseas, I was gratified to find your thoughtful letter of 9 September recounting your 1-2 September visit. I regret not having had the opportunity to see you, but it appears that you were in good hands. I certainly will convey your kind remarks to the responsible officers here and at our training installations. I also want to thank you for your assurance of continued support by the JFK Center and Institute for Military Assistance. Close cooperation between JFK and the CIA Special Operations Group can only work to the benefit of both our organizations.

Yours sincerely,

W. Stansfield Turner
