Miss Ann Williams of Houghton, Mifflin called from Boston. She said that she had your letter. The book is on press now. If there are any drastic changes that must be made in your foreword, please send her a wire collect. She will try to catch it in this edition; if not, in the second edition. The typographical errors will be taken care of.

Tuesday is a holiday in Boston and Houghton Mifflin will be closed.

MATTER _____

Miss Ann Williams,
Houghton Mifflin Company,
2 Park Street,
Boston 7, Mass.

Dear Miss Williams:

I regret the delay in getting back to you the proof of the introduction to Gisevius' book.

You have probably noted the typographical error on page 1 in the spelling of "Strategic". I would also ask you to check whether my spelling of Nuernberg in the first line of last page conforms to that in the balance of the book. If not, it should be conformed. Otherwise, I have no further corrections to make.

Sincerely,

A. W. Dulles
