SUBJECT : Khrushchev's Visit to Rumania in 1959

50X1-HUM

1. During his visit to Rumania in 1959 [probably a reference to the visit in late October 1959], Soviet Premier N.S. Khrushchev and his entourage spent five days at a palace (formerly the property of a Baron Teleki) in a village about 30 minutes by car from Arad. Khrushchev arrived in Bucharest by air, where he changed planes and flew on to the palace. At the end of his visit, he returned to Bucharest and spent a few hours there before flying back to Moscow.

meetings were held at the palace during Khrushchev's stay, and the following participated in the meetings:

- b. The Rumanian delegation, headed by Gheorghe Gheorghiu-Dej, included all Politburo members.
- c. The Hungarian delegation included Janos Kadar, Ferencz Muennich, and Istvan Dobi. The Hungarian leaders arrived at night by car, spent the next day and night at the palace, and returned to Budapest on the following day.
- d. It was rumored that Wladyslaw Gomulka represented Poland.*

initiated the meetings in order to reach a modus vivendi with Yugoslav President Tito, who was also rumored to have attended the meetings. The attempt apparently failed, for the official statement published at the end of the talks was simply to the effect that Khrushchev had spent five days resting and hunting. [redacted]
