1. A rayon plan of Serpukhov [N 54-54, E 37-247], accompanied by a three-page key. Among the fifty-eight locations indicated are industrial plants, electric power installations, rail, river, and highway transport facilities, government buildings, military and air installations, villages in the area, and miscellaneous sites of agricultural, cultural, and recreational significance, as well as a few of the physical features of the surrounding terrain.
2. A city plan of Serpukhov, supplied with a five-page key, showing 111 locations in the city of Serpukhov. Many of the installations which were indicated on the smaller-scale, less detailed rayon map described above have also been indicated on the more detailed city plan. Located are industrial plants, electric power installations, rail and river transport facilities, military and air installations, warehouses and storage facilities, and other miscellaneous locations.
3. A plan, accompanied by a three-page key, of an industrial plant known officially as Post Office Box No. 2, Serpukhov, but also mentioned as the shipbuilding (sudostroitelnyy) plant. The rayon and city plans locate the plant on a small stream in the northeast sector of the city. The factory plan locates approximately sixty buildings and other sites of the shipbuilding plant and of another plant nearby, the Twenty Years of VLKSM, which produced surgical cotton.
