The Chairman suggested that the Subcommittee be continued for one year under a revised terms of reference to include an exchange of information and discussion of developments in the field of petroleum with a flexible membership in the sense that member agencies would be invited to send their operating experts to participate in discussions with the regular members. In this connection, the Chairman requested members to examine their individual membership to see that they had the proper representation on the Subcommittee. The Chairman stated he would contact the Department of the Interior with regard to future representation.

Discussion followed and it was the consensus of members that the Subcommittee should be continued for one year and that the Committee should provide appropriate guidance. Members were requested to submit to the Chairman, within two weeks, any comments or suggestions for additional membership or specific suggestions on the future role and operation of the Subcommittee. The Chairman will then circulate, for members approval, a draft memorandum for the Chairman of the Subcommittee setting forth guidelines under which the EIC desires to have the Subcommittee operate for one year to determine if there is a role the Subcommittee can perform in the EIC structure.

in Communist countries into an extension of activities of the EIC Subcommittee on General Economic Analysis. The Chairman reviewed a draft memorandum, which had been circulated to members prior to the meeting, requesting the Subcommittee to expand its activities to include a series of meetings on this subject on a trial basis for one year.

Members also agreed that the Chairman, EIC, should extend an invitation to Mr. Rubin, Department of Commerce, and Mr. Paul Gekker, Federal Reserve Board, to participate in the activities of this Subcommittee.

TERMS OF REFERENCE OF THE ECONOMIC INTELLIGENCE COMMITTEE:

The Chairman called attention to the comparative analysis of selected USIB Subcommittees (SIC, GMAIC, and JAEIC) and the Notes on the Terms of Reference of the EIC which had been circulated prior to the meeting. Discussion and review of the allocation of responsibilities and the functions of the EIC as contained in DCID 3/1 in comparison with other substantive committees of USIB followed.

It was the consensus of members that, at this time, there is no need to make any formal changes in the allocation of responsibilities or in the charter of the EIC.

The Department of the Army representative noted that the SIC coordinates the scientific and technical portions of the NIS Program and asked if the EIC should become more active in this area in reviewing the economic portions of the Program. The Chairman replied that the EIC may, on occasion, examine allocations of responsibility and make recommendations to the NIS Committee. The Chairman suggested the Army representative submit his suggestions to the Chairman for Committee consideration.

The Chairman expressed his appreciation to the membership for their cooperation and the meeting was adjourned.
