1. The following three ex-Siemens factories have been severed from the main Siemens organization and are controlled by Elektro A.G., Berlinerstrasse, Berlin-Weissensee;

Location	Products	Staff
Siemens-Schuckert Werke A.G., Plauen (K12)	Conductor wires	250
Falkenstein (K21) (plant not listed)	Varnished copper wire for radio coils	50
Elsterberg (K13) (plant not listed)	Synthetic fabric-covered wire	50

2. Elektro A.G., which comprises some 220 undertakings of the electrical industry, was known until August 1946 as the Sowjet-Elektrizitäts A.G.

3. The production of rubber-insulated cables at Plauen had to cease, because of the shortage of rubber. The Schkopau (D91) works, which formerly supplied the Plauen factory with Buna, is now entirely engaged in supplying reparations to the USSR.

4. Another ex-Siemens factory taken over by Elektro A.G. is the one at Arnstadt (V-28 - Thuringia), where components for radio sets and fuses are being made; 1,400 workers are employed in the factory. Four- and six-tube radio sets are being assembled to existing specifications, but Soviet tubes are being fitted. The technical manager is a Dr. Pfeiffer, and the commercial manager is a man named Pohl.

5. A research center has been set up in the Arnstadt factory to work on matters relating to television. Engineers and physicists from Phillips and Telefunken factories, at one time evacuated to the Sudetenland, are working in the television research department, which employs seventy-five people. Television sets are said to be under construction.
