SUPPLEMENT TO REPORT NO.

Augusto Alberdi de Gausebzck, ex-director of the German Bank in New York, arrived in Buenos Aires from Spain around July 1948. He is currently living at the Hotel Barrancas at Calle 3 de Febrero. He is attempting to regain certain of his assets which had been deposited in Argentina prior to World War II and which were subsequently confiscated by the Argentine government. His wife is now in New York City attempting to regain control of their frozen assets in that city. When that is accomplished, she expects to go to Buenos Aires, where they will settle permanently.

This document is hereby regraded to CONFIDENTIAL in accordance with the letter of 16 October 1978 from the Director of Central Intelligence to the Archivist of the United States.
