1. About 1,500 Soviet military personnel are stationed at the ports of Chongjin (129-49, 41-46), Najin (130-15, 42-10), and Unggi (130-20, 42-20), with the greatest concentration at Unggi. This latter port is being enlarged, with new piers and other construction. At the end of February, there were three Soviet vessels of over a thousand tons anchored in this harbor. Fourteen Soviet ships of over a thousand tons were in Najin harbor at the end of February. The harbor of Chongjin has an average of ten Soviet ships entering and leaving daily, apparently on no regular schedule.
2. The anthracite mine at Sadong (125-48, 39-02) in the Pyongyang area, a navy-controlled enterprise, shipped 22,500 tons of coal to Najin during January and February 1950. Shipments were made from Pyongyang by rail. The coal, marked with navy insignia for shipping, is used mostly by naval vessels.
