Two types of motor boats (sic) are being built at Whampoa as follows:

Two hundred twin-engine motor boats with a capacity of one company of troops.

Two hundred single-engine motor boats with a capacity of one platoon. All of them are equipped with derricks.*

25X1A

* Comment. It is not clear whether both types are equipped with derricks or whether only the single-engine types are so equipped. [REDACTED] reported that twin-engine junks being built at a Ch'angchou (112-26, 23-04) shipyard were equipped with small cranes.
