1. In mid-October the Peace Preservation Corps (PPC) on Taiwan engaged in an investigation of a large Communist ring on Taiwan composed mostly of Chinese from the mainland. PPC authorities suspect that the head of a section in the Nationalist Ministry of Interior is head of this net. They expect to arrest 600 members of the net soon.
2. By mid-October the PPC had arrested 400 Taiwanese members of a Communist net on Taiwan headed by TS'AI Hsiao-ch'ien (蔡春乾).¹ The PPC was expecting to arrest more Taiwanese members of this net, which was known by its members as the Taiwan Operations Committee.
- C-3 3. In mid-September HSIN Chih-wen (信致文), former Nationalist Government official and a native of Manchuria, was being investigated by the PPC as a Communist suspect. Recent arrivals in Taiwan from Peiping have reported to the PPC that HSIN, who arrived in Taiwan from Peiping in early 1951, had a large limousine at his disposal in Peiping and that only persons in good standing with the Chinese Communist were permitted the use of such vehicles. HSIN would not ordinarily be given permission to leave the mainland, since he was well known to the Communists as a Nationalist official.
