Chinese Communist-controlled organizations in Macao. These secretaries are to receive a salary of 80 to 150 yuan⁴, paid by the organization in which they work, and are to make a monthly report to the New Democratic Movement Planning Committee. The committee planned to liquidate all undesirable persons in each Communist-controlled organization in Macao. It also required that all important accidents be reported to the committee before being reported elsewhere.⁵

3. With the establishment of the New Democratic Movement Planning Committee, all Communist-sponsored organizations in Macao were placed under the unified control of CH'EN Lan. After CH'EN Lan's transfer to Canton left the Overseas Chinese Association without a head, the Macao Labor Union and the Chinese Chamber of Commerce severed their connections with the Overseas Chinese Association and became independent. Important members of the Overseas Chinese Association include HO Cheng-p'ing, HUANG P'ing, FU Chen-mia (符鎮民), KAO Chen-wu, HSIAO Wei-k'ang, CHANG Ch'ing-hui, and LIANG Hui-tan. Social groups still attached to this association include the Students' Union, the Democratic Women's Association, the Nurses' Association, the Young Lu Workers' Mutual Aid Union, the China Education Association, the Mandarin Movement Association, and the Physicians' and Surgeons' Union, headed by CHU Chao-ch'in (朱朝欽).
4. CH'EN Lan also heads the New Democratic League, important members of which include CHANG Yang, CH'EN Kuo-chien, T'AN Li-king, CH'EN Ia-pai, TU Iai, LAO P'ing-shan, SU Ching-chih, and CHAO Yun-feng. Social groups attached to this association include the Lai Yen Drama Association, headed by HUANG Sen; the Youth Social Association, headed by LAO Ching (高敬); the Hoo Chiang Middle School, and the Water and Power Company Labor Union. Most of the members of the Water and Power Company labor Union's supervisory committee and about one-third of the general membership belong to the New Democratic League.
5. In August 1961 Chinese Communist newspaper reporters in Macao were planning to organize a new Democratic Reporters' Fellowship Association with CHANG Yang, reporter of the Canton Wan Kang Jih Pao, KAO Ching-wen (高敬文), reporter of the Wen Hui Pao; SU Ching (歐靜), reporter of the Pearl River Jen Min Pao; and a reporter of the Wong Ya Kung Pao as the four promoters. The following persons were invited to a preparatory meeting held on the premises of the Women's Association on 12 August: CH'EN Ia-pai, editor of the Ta Chung Pao in Macao; CH'EN Kuo-chien, member of the Asia P'ieh publication; CHANG Ch'iang-yuan (張琮媛), of the publication of the Women's Association; a person named HAO of the publication of the Commercial Training Class; and a person named LI of the publication of the China Education Association.
6. The China Democratic League, which has allied itself to the Chinese Communist Party, has established an Operations Temporary Committee in Macao with LU Wen-hao as chairman and SUN Hsi-k'un as deputy chairman. This unit started expanding in January 1961 and by August had more than fifty members, including KAO Ching-wen and Mr. LUANG Jun-tseang. The committee has established an investigation team which cooperates with Communist agents in Macao and submits reports to the South China Sub-Bureau through the Chiochiang branch of the Democratic League. The Youth Friendship (Social) Association in Macao is actually a branch of the China Democratic League although it is ostensibly a branch of the New Democratic League. LU Wen-hao is chief of the Chungshan Hsien police department and lives at the Jardim da Flora, Macao. SUN is also a member of the New Democratic League and lives on the third floor of the branch office of the Chungshan Ice Plant.
7. LIANG Ch'ang is the leading Communist operative in Macao. Other important operatives are HUANG Sen, LIANG Lio, LIAO Hsi-ying (廖惠營) and LI Ch'uan, also known as "Ma-on'a" Ch'uan (麥安拿). The Lo Liang (羅梁) Athletic Club and the sai iu (賽遊) National Sport Club are centers for their activities. Practically all coolies on the Macao wharves serve as henchmen for Communist organizations in Macao. HUANG Sen and CH'EN P'ei control about a thousand henchmen. 9. On 2 July the Chinese Communists sent a number of agents led by LI Hsiang (李祥) from Hong Kong to Macao aboard the LUNG MEN. The men spent one night at the Oriental Hotel, Macao, and a second night aboard the HUNG HSING, which was moored at Shihoriaokuan (石前崗) along the border between Macao and Chungshan Asien. During the second night they made several visits ashore.

10. In or about early June 1951 a Russian agent of the international Communist organization arrived in Macao, where he lived at 37 Avenida Lorta e Costa. During his first month in Macao he went out seldom and only late at night or in the early morning.
11. According to a statement made by HUANG Wei-chung (黃維中), a 16-year old youth from the Ninth District of Chungshan Asien, he joined the Communist Party in August 1950 through the introduction of LIANG Chin (梁欽), who offered to pay him HK $10 per month and three ounces of rice daily to work for the Communists. In mid-1951 HUANG was working as a noodle-hawker at the corner of a building on rua Central, and was shadowing persons as directed.
12. LI Chien (李健), also known as LI Tsan-shen (李贊順), chairman of the Macao Students' Union, tried to force students to use the Chinese Communist five-star flag during the second athletic meeting in Macao, but failed. LI is a native of Hsinien, Kwangtung Province, who lived in Swatow until the beginning of the Sino-Japanese war, when he moved to Macao. He attended the T'ao Ying and Kuang Chung Schools and the Chung Ie Middle School, and is now in the third year of senior middle school. He joined the Communists while a student at the Kuang Chung School.
