Puetnitz Airfield (sketch attached)

- 1. The take-off runway at Puetnitz airfield has been lengthened by 600 meters and is now in use. Most of the airfield buildings that had been destroyed have now been rebuilt.
- 2. In the middle of April, an advance Soviet air force unit of 175 men wearing blue epaulets arrived at the airfield. The men work mainly in the airfield halls, where they presumably assemble airplanes. On several occasions, sealed crates have been delivered to the halls. At first, these crates arrived by truck, later by rail.

Anklam Airfield

- 3. The rubble has not yet been cleared and the airfield is used for gunnery and bombing practice purposes. In a farmhouse on the outskirts of the airfield, there is a unit of 25-30 Soviet air force men who are responsible for placing the gunnery and bombing targets. Planes from both Peenemunde and Neubrandenburg take part in the practices, which started in the beginning of April.

Dangarten

- 4. In the former Dangarten post office (Postamt), beside the police guard station, there is a 2-2.5 meter wide antenna. The length of the wires is ca. 15 meters.*
