Cornent. The special components of the infantry Kommandos, such as the communication, engineer and mortar Zuage, have been reinforced by personnel detached from Sonderabteilungen of the respective branches of service. The 18 light machine gams constitute the total equipment of this type for three infantry Abteilungen. The artillery Kommando previously had only four Abtei-

Comment. It appears improbable that the hitherto existing VPDs should be reorganized into brigades or divisions. The personnel and material on hand at present are inadequate for activating as many as 24 divisions from the 24 VPDs existing today. However, other information indicates that groups of four VPDs each might be combined into a total of six divisions at a politically
