25X1 [redacted] Comment. The arms shipment for Unit [redacted] was previously 25X1
 25X1 reported. [redacted] The [redacted] is assigned to a 25X1 central ordnance depot at Fuerstenwalde, which started delivering large amounts of arms to Volkspolizei units in late April 1952. [redacted] 25X1 [redacted]. A shipment of 100-mm AT guns is believed to be possible. However, the guns probably were for the Soviet Army rather than the Volkspolizei.

[redacted] Comment. The number of incoming cars increased from 397 in March to 661 cars in the reported period. This is due to the increase of arms shipments to Fuerstenwalde and ammunition shipments to the ammunition depots at Wilmersdorf and Pfaffendorf or Lamitsch. After the considerable decrease in March 1952, the volume of outgoing shipments rose from 143 to 256 cars. Most of the shipments mentioned in the present report are known from previous transportation reports. The Soviet supply traffic is still normal. The arms shipments to Unit [redacted] are of interest. 25X1 The increased shipping of ammunition to the ammunition depot at Wilmersdorf (Pfaffendorf) is necessitated by the summer training program of the Soviet Army. The APIs have been repeatedly mentioned in transportation and military reports.
