With regard to clubs I and my friends are being hard hit. First to go was the Jockey, then the Circulo de Armas, a little later the University Club of Buenos Aires -- this hits me a little hard as I had bought a building site out at Nagales where the Club was developing its big athletic field -- now under fire are our Centro Cientifico, Wagnerian Society and our Argentine-American University Club. As cultural institutions we are trying to save them but the outcome of the efforts is doubtful. Along with the rest of the US old-timers, I have helped finance the building which is to house the American Club. I hope we do not lose this for the community strained itself to put up the m$n 6,500,000 the building will cost when finished. It should be completed soon.
