MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director of Central Intelligence
FROM : Legislative Counsel
SUBJECT : Your Appearance Before the Senate Appropriations Committee
Subcommittee on Defense on 24 April 1981 Re: Key Issues

1. As you are aware, Members and staff of the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Defense will visit Headquarters tomorrow, 24 April, for a briefing on key intelligence issues. You are scheduled to lead off the briefing at 0900 hours in the DCI Conference Room, followed by John McMahan, Director, National Foreign Assessment Center, and representatives of the National Intelligence Council. A complete list of those Agency personnel who will be attending on Friday is attached for your information.

2. At this point, it appears that only Subcommittee Chairman Ted Stevens (R., AK), and Subcommittee Members Warren Rudman (R., NH), and Mark Andrews (R., ND) will attend. Subcommittee staff members Fred Rhodes (Minority), Pete Bonner and Dwight Dyer, who is replacing Bonner for the Majority, will also be present. From what we have learned from the staff, the Subcommittee Members have no particular interests on which they wish us to focus. They have requested this session primarily for background purposes and consequently no questions have been prepared by their staffs.

3. Also attached for your use is a complete list of the Subcommittee Membership. If we learn that any other Members will be attending or any other details, we will inform you.

Theodore F. STEVENS

U. S. SENATE

Anchorage, Alaska

Senator Ted Stevens has been a Member of Congress since December 1968. He is the current Chairman of the Senate Appropriations Defense Subcommittee. Senator Stevens also serves on the Commerce, Science, and Transportation Committee; the Governmental Affairs Committee; and is the Assistant Majority Leader of the Senate. Senator Stevens was the Senate Minority Whip in the 96th Congress.

Republican

Senator Stevens has had frequent contact with the Agency over the years. In the early 1970s, he attended a breakfast briefing at Headquarters, hosted by the Director, along with several other Senators. He traveled to Beijing as a Member of a Presidential delegation in 1968 and again in 1976. In 1978 he visited the Middle East area, and at the beginning of this year, he again traveled to the People's Republic of China. Senator Stevens has shown particular interest in off-shore fishing and has from time to time requested substantive intelligence briefings from Agency personnel on Soviet and Korean fishing fleets off the shore of Alaska. During a briefing of the Defense Subcommittee in 1979, Senator Stevens expressed his concern over the problems facing CIA relating to disclosure statutes. He has also attended other briefings given by Agency personnel on such subjects as the FY81 CIA Program budget and the geopolitics of oil.

Senator Stevens attended Oregon State College and Montana State College and holds a B.A. from the University of California and an LL.B. from Harvard Law School. He served in the U.S. Army Air Corps during World War II. He practiced law in the early 1950s and 1960s and was an assistant to the Secretary of the Interior from 1958 to 1960. Senator Weicker is Chairman of the Senate Select Committee on Small Business for the 97th Congress. Senator Weicker was a Member of the former Church Committee.

Republican

CIA has had continuing contact with the Senator and his staff over the years and we have handled many constituent inquiries for him. He met with former DCI Turner in 1977 and 1978 regarding Korean CIA activities in the U.S. At that time he also reviewed documents from CIA files which contained references to possible Senatorial contacts with South Korean government officials.

Senator Weicker holds a B.A. from Yale University and his LL.B. from the University of Virginia. He served with the U.S. Army during the Korean War and then later as a Captain in the U.S. Army Reserve. In the early 1960's he served as a Member of the Connecticut General Assembly. Edwin (Jake) GARN

Salt Lake City, Utah

Senator Jake Garn has been a Member of Congress since 1974. He currently serves as Chairman of the Senate Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs Committee and is also a Member of the Select Committee on Intelligence (SSCI) and the Appropriations Committee, where he serves on the Subcommittee on Defense.

Republican

As a Member of the SSCI, Senator Garn is concerned that unreasonable restrictions have been placed on intelligence and that consequently intelligence agencies are unable to do their jobs. Senator Garn has received various substantive intelligence briefings; on one occasion he disagreed with CIA's assessment of the Rhodesia situation. In response to a letter from the Senator earlier this year regarding the need for accuracy in the annual National Intelligence Estimate on "Soviet Capabilities for Strategic Nuclear Conflict," DCI Casey assured him that the methodologies used in the formulation of the NIEs are being critically reviewed. The Senator is one of several cosponsors of the pending Identities legislation.

Senator Garn holds a B.S. from the University of Utah. He served in the U.S. Navy from 1956 to 1960 and later as a Lieutenant Colonel in the Utah Air National Guard. He was Commissioner of Salt Lake City from 1968 to 1972. He then served as the City's Mayor until 1974. From 1971 to 1974, he also served as a member of the Board of Directors of the National League of Cities.

Payette, Idaho

U. S. SENATE

James McClure has been a Member of the Senate since 1973. He previously served in the U.S. House of Representatives from 1967 until his election to the Senate. He is Chairman of the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee and also serves on the Rules and Administration Committee and the Appropriations Committee, where he is a Member of the Subcommittee on Defense.

Senator McClure has received several substantive intelligence briefings from CIA personnel over the years. His Energy and Natural Resources Committee was briefed earlier this year by analysts from the National Foreign Assessment Center on the world petroleum outlook for 1981. He has shown a keen interest in intelligence matters; he feels there is an international conspiracy driven either by Soviet intelligence or communist political factions. He is well versed on OPEC matters and Soviet intentions in the Middle East. Senator McClure is characterized as a conservative. He strongly supports nuclear power. He favors deregulation and minimum restraint on private enterprise in energy matters. In 1978, he provided a crucial vote in favor of compromise on former President Carter's energy bill in exchange for support of a $417 million energy research project in his State.

Republican

Background and Personal Data

Senator McClure received his J.D. from the University of Idaho. He served with the U.S. Navy during World War II. He was an Idaho State Senator from 1960 to 1966; during 1965-66 he was Assistant Majority Leader.

Republican

Senator Schmitt has been described as a bright activist with a broad range of interests. In our few contacts with him, he has appeared well disposed towards the Intelligence Community. In 1977 he was briefed on the status of Soviet development of LANDSAT satellites and attended a breakfast with former DCI Turner, hosted by Senator Chafee, at which time he expressed interest in visiting the Agency for breakfast sessions. We have had minimal contact with the Senator over the past year.

Mark ANDREWS

U. S. SENATE

Mapleton, North Dakota

Senator Mark Andrews succeeded former Republican Senator Milton Young, who retired at the end of the 96th Congress. Although new to the Senate for the 97th Congress, Senator Andrews previously served in the U.S. House of Representatives (1963-1981). He currently serves on the Senate Agriculture, Nutrition and Forestry Committee, the Budget Committee, the Select Committee on Indian Affairs and the Appropriations Committee, where he is a Member of the Subcommittee on Defense.

Republican

CIA has had very limited contact with Senator Andrews. Most of our dealings over the years have focused on constituent inquiries. While a Member of the House, Senator Andrews established a solid reputation as a farmer's advocate. With a background in farming himself he used his Membership on the House Appropriations Committee to apply consistent leverage in the Congress to support the farming interests of his State. When former President Carter sought to cut back funding for the controversial Garrison Water Development Project in North Dakota in 1977 he complained that it was "under attack by radical environmentalists" and warned that "Carter and company better not show up in this area." Despite the militance of his public works rhetoric, however, Senator Andrews is a temperate Republican on most issues. Senator Andrews is one of several cosponsors of S. 391, the Senate version of the pending Identities Bill.

Senator Andrews holds a B.S. from North Dakota State University. He attended the U.S. Military Academy from 1944 to 1946 and served in the U.S. Army during World War II. He embarked on his political career in the late 1950's when he became North Dakota's Republican National Committeeman (1958-1962). He was the unsuccessful Republican candidate for the Governorship of North Dakota in 1962.

U. S. SENATE

Milwaukee, Wisconsin

Senator Robert Kasten, a Freshman Senator, previously served in the U.S. House of Representatives from 1974 to 1978. He currently serves on the Senate Budget Committee, the Commerce, Science and Transportation Committee, the Veterans' Affairs Committee and the Appropriations Committee, where he is a Member of the Subcommittee on Defense. An aggressive and determined young politician, he compiled a solid conservative record during his four year political career in the U.S. House of Representatives. While in the House he was a Member of the Intelligence Committee. In 1976 he played an important role in legislation to end the Federal monopoly over the production of enriched uranium. After first casting the deciding vote in favor of an amendment which would have allowed private industry to enter the field, he switched and cast his vote the other way. As a Member of the House he voted against raising Social Security taxes, against increasing the minimum wage and against a crude oil tax. He voted for strip mining controls and supported expanding the Appalachian Trail.

Republican

CIA's contact with Senator Kasten (even while he was a Member of the House Intelligence Committee) has been limited. Senator Kasten is one of several cosponsors of the Senate version of the pending Identities legislation.

Senator Kasten holds a B.A. from the University of Arizona and his M.B.A. from Columbia University. He served with the U.S. Air Force during 1967 and the Wisconsin Air National Guard from 1967 to 1972. Prior to embarking on his political career, he worked as a shoe company executive. From 1972 to 1974 he served as a Member of the Wisconsin State Senate. He relinquished his seat in the U.S. House of Representatives in 1978 to run for Governor of the State of Wisconsin, but was unsuccessful in his bid for that position.

Senator Mark O. Hatfield has been a Member of Congress since January 1967. He is the current Chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee. Senator Hatfield also serves on the Energy and Natural Resources Committee, the Rules and Administration Committee, and the Joint Committee of Congress on the Library.

Republican

Senator Hatfield has been generally well disposed towards CIA. He has written to the past three Directors, as well as DCI Casey, expressing his strong opposition to Agency use of missionaries, clergymen, and other members of church organizations for assistance in gathering foreign intelligence information overseas. In January 1980, Senator Hatfield wrote a note to former DCI Turner extending his personal congratulations to the Agency on its contribution to the escape of six Americans from Iran via the Canadian Embassy. Senator Hatfield has received briefings from Agency personnel in the past, e.g., worldwide intelligence briefings and a world energy situation briefing in 1979. Don Massey, former Office of Legislative Counsel employee, worked for Senator Hatfield as the Minority Counsel on the Rules and Administration Committee during the 96th Congress and is now the Senator's Chief Counsel on the Appropriations Committee. Press articles have revealed that Senator Hatfield intends to fight funding for both the MX missile and neutron bomb.

Senator Hatfield holds a B.A. from Willamette University and an A.M. from Stanford University. He served in the U.S. Naval Reserve during World War II. He was an Associate Professor of Political Science at Willamette University from 1950 to 1956. William PROXMIRE

Madison, Wisconsin

William Proxmire has been a Member of the Senate since August 1957. He currently serves on the Senate Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs Committee; the Joint Economic Committee; and is the Ranking Minority Member of the Appropriations Committee.

The Agency has had frequent contact with Senator Proxmire over the years and has found him to be one of CIA's most outspoken critics. He is strongly in favor of downgrading and declassifying information produced by CIA and other agencies in the Executive Branch. As Chairman of the Joint Economic Subcommittee on Priorities and Economy in Government in the 96th Congress, he showed special interest in the economies of the Soviet Union and the People's Republic of China.

Former DCI Turner's annual appearance before the Joint Economic Committee was at his initiation. Senator Proxmire attacked the Agency last year concerning what he felt was faulty analysis on our part regarding Soviet defense spending. The Senator is a strong supporter of the Freedom of Information Act, and we have received many inquiries from his staff for constituents who have made requests under this Act. Following a briefing on Iran in March 1978, the Senator relayed to former DCI Turner his belief that CIA attention to the internal affairs of Iran was limited. Along with a referral to the Department of State regarding his concern about contingency planning for Iran, he was assured that we were getting continuous and detailed intelligence on Iran. Ron Tammen, Legislative Assistant to the Senator, was previously an Agency employee in the Office of Strategic Research. We continue to have contact with him.

Daniel K. INOUE

Honolulu, Hawaii

U. S. SENATE

The first Japanese-American to be elected to the Senate, Senator Daniel Inouye has been a Member of Congress since 1959. Prior to his election to the Senate in 1963, he was a Member of the House of Representatives (1959-63). Senator Inouye moved to the forefront of the American political scene during his service on the Watergate Committee, a post he was at first somewhat reluctant to accept. He currently serves on the Select Committee on Intelligence (SSCI), where he is the Vice Chairman of the Budget Authorization Subcommittee; the Appropriations Defense Subcommittee; the Commerce, Science and Transportation Committee; and the Select Committee on Indian Affairs.

Democrat

Senator Inouye was the first SSCI Chairman; he relinquished his post at the end of the first session of the 95th Congress because of other Senatorial commitments and because he believes it unwise for a Member to be continually involved in and responsible for classified material. When selected Chairman, Senator Inouye pledged to maintain and hopefully strengthen the U.S. intelligence effort. At the same time he said the Constitutional rights of all citizens must be protected. As SSCI Chairman, he was extremely concerned about the SSCI's ability to protect sensitive information and once suspended a staff member for 30 days without pay for taking classified material out of the office. In honor of his service as SSCI Chairman, the Senator received the National Intelligence Distinguished Service Medal in January 1978.

The Senator has received numerous intelligence briefings and toured various Agency facilities in the U.S. and abroad, particularly in the Far East. Generally a supporter of the Agency, Senator Inouye did, however, criticize the Agency's intelligence collection program in Micronesia, primarily on the grounds that the Micronesians were under the protection of U.S. laws and should not be the target of spying. He voted to release the interim report on Micronesia, including one sentence the Executive Branch wanted withheld. He also staunchly opposed CIA use of the Agency for International Development for cover purposes in Congressional discussions of that issue in 1975.

Walter D. HUDDLESTON

U. S. SENATE

Elizabethtown, Kentucky

Senator Walter Huddleston has been a Member of Congress since 1973. He currently serves on the Select Committee on Intelligence (SSCI), where he is the Vice Chairman of the Collection and Foreign Operations Subcommittee; the Appropriations Defense Subcommittee; the Select Committee on Small Business; and is the Ranking Minority Member on the Agriculture, Nutrition and Forestry Committee. Senator Huddleston was a Member of the former Church Committee.

Democrat

Senator Huddleston's main areas of interest have been the Agency's relationship with U.S. institutions, such as universities and the press, and CIA propaganda efforts abroad which might be replayed in the United States. In the debate on S. Res. 400, which established the SSCI, Senator Huddleston said "the U.S. must have the strongest, most effective intelligence services, essential information must be kept secret, and thus improvements can be made in the intelligence oversight system." In his personal capacity and as Chairman of the SSCI Subcommittee on Charters and Guidelines during the 96th Congress, he was the most outspoken supporter of Charters legislation. He played an active role as mediator in the effort to develop a consensus among Members regarding charter drafts. He is most concerned with foreign intelligence operations directed against U.S. persons, potential source investigations, special activities and accountability to Congress. The Senator ultimately accepted and supported the compromise Hughes-Ryan modification and new oversight language which was enacted as part of the Fiscal Year 1981 Intelligence Authorization Act. Senator Huddleston has received numerous briefings by CIA personnel over the years. He is one of several cosponsors of the pending Identities legislation.

Senator Huddleston holds an A.B. from the University of Kentucky. He served in the U.S. Army from 1944 to 1946. From 1960 to 1961 he was Chairman of the Elizabethtown Planning and Zoning Commission. He was a Kentucky State Senator during 1966-72, serving concurrently as Majority Leader from 1970 to 1972.
