

DDI 10305/00

Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D.C. 20505

MEMORANDUM FOR: The Vice President

SUBJECT : Implications of an Oil Price Decline

I believe you will find the attached intelligence assessment on the implications of a possible oil price decline worth reading. The report points out that a decline could have a substantial positive impact on the global economy. An oil price decline, however, will also bring with it a number of potentially serious feedbacks that can be avoided if we recognize the risks beforehand.

151

William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence

SECRET

25X1

