The Honorable
 William J. Casey
 Director
 Central Intelligence Agency
 Washington, DC 20505

Dear Bill:

Some of the tough questions we will address during IMDI's
1983 Economic-Business Forecast on January 11 are as follows:

- Where are interest rates headed?
- How much deficit spending can the economy bear?
- What are the gravest threats to the international banking community -- and how can we overcome them?
- How well have the Administration and the Congress performed on their economic policies?

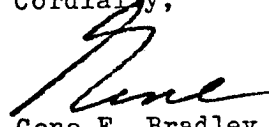

You are cordially invited to join with us in the Treasury Department as key spokesmen from the Administration, the Congress, and the international corporate/banking community address these issues, propose solutions, and offer their judgments on what lies ahead.

Please find enclosed the agenda for our meeting and a reservation card which we suggest you return at your early convenience. I am also enclosing two other invitations relating to IMDI programs:

1. Introductory subscription to The Christian Science Monitor:
 You may recall from our earlier program announcement that The Christian Science Monitor will be presenting a 1983 assessment of "U.S. Foreign Policy and Its Impact on International Business" -- during our December 7-8 Annual Meeting in the State Department. For more in-depth analysis, The Monitor has graciously offered to IMDI Board/Council Members (who are not presently subscribing) a complimentary subscription. Please refer to the postcard enclosed for details.
2. Invitation to Export Trading Company Conferences:
 The Department of Commerce -- a partner and sponsor of the Fowler-McCracken Commission -- invites all IMDI Board/Council Members to its forthcoming conferences on Export Trading Companies. The enclosed announcement gives details.

With all best wishes and looking forward to seeing you on January 11.

Cordially,

 Gene E. Bradley
 Chairman
