Dear Mr. Gordon:

It is with great pleasure that I accept your invitation to lecture on American sponsored resistance movements behind enemy lines during World War II that is to be given as a part of a course "America Fights World War II." As I understand it, the course is under the auspices of the Smithsonian Resident Associate Program. I will look forward to lecturing on one of my favorite topics.

Thank you again for the invitation. Someone from my Public Affairs staff will contact your office in the near future to make the necessary arrangements.

Sincerely,

William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence
