This collection consists of the records of Harold Stassen, the Special Assistant to the President for Disarmament. The records include correspondence, memoranda, reports and printed material concerning the position of the United States on atomic and nuclear weapons. The material documents the negotiations between the U.S. and the U.S.S.R., the activities of the President's Special Committee on Disarmament, Senate hearings on disarmament, the testing of nuclear weapons, and positions on disarmament taken by various NATO countries, notably Canada, Great Britain and France. This material was turned over to the State Department by Stassen's successors on the White House staff about 1959, and was later sent to the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency when it became an independent agency.
