MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Central Intelligence

SUBJECT : Use of Journalists in the Next Advanced Intelligence Seminar (AIS)

1. Your approval is requested to invite a journalist to speak to the Advanced Intelligence Seminar (AIS), which will run from 9 - 25 January 1974, on the subject, "The Media and the Government".

2. In view of the many commitments journalists often have, the staff would like to obtain approval to invite any of the following: David Broder, Washington Post columnist; Charles Bartlett, Chicago Sun-Times columnist; Mel Elfin, Chief, Washington Bureau, Newsweek; Meg Greenfield, editorial writer for The Washington Post; Peter Lisagor, Chief, Washington Bureau, Chicago Daily News; and George Reedy, Dean of Journalism, Marquette University. Biographic information on each is attached. Each of the above has been approved by the Office of Security to speak on an unclassified basis at the Agency.

3. As discussed above, your approval is requested to invite any of the following to speak to next AIS: David Broder, Charles Bartlett, Mel Elfin, Meg Greenfield, Peter Lisagor, and George Reedy.
