FOREIGN BROADCAST INFORMATION SERVICE

Central American Remote

The FBIS bureau in Panama has been covering local radios of four Central American countries--El Salvador, Honduras, Guatemala, and Nicaragua--from broadcasts relayed over commercial circuits from the U.S. embassies in those countries. This system has been constantly improved over the past two years. A 4-wire line now connects the bureau with Managua and San Salvador which enables the bureau to tune and record radios in the embassies by remote control. A second 4-wire line is now being installed between the bureau and our embassies in Guatemala City/Tegucigalpa.

Greek Coverage

FBIS has initiated a voice landline from Kili, in Western Cyprus, to its bureau in Nicosia. This provides improved year-round coverage of the domestic broadcasts of Greece. The antenna site at Kili and the line are leased from the Cyprus Telecommunications Authority. The bureau anticipates that the site will also improve radio coverage of Tripoli, Libya, and enable the bureau to cover Cairo television.
