 25 X 1
25X1

Afghanistan Situation Report

25X1

8 February 1983

Top Secret

NESA M 83-10031CX SOVA M 83-10027CX

8 February 1983

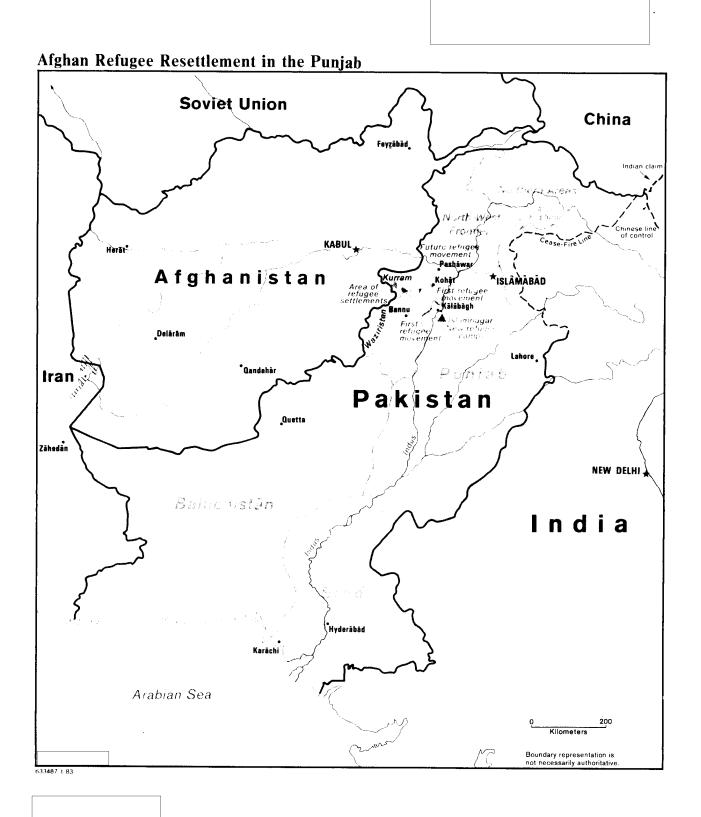

Copy NZ5

25X1

ized Copy Approved for Release 2010/08/10 : CIA-RDP85T00287R000700540002-6
]
	_
AFGHANISTAN SITUATION REPORT
m ommercial by control was one CONTENTS
YEW CANDOR IN SOVIET DOMESTIC TREATMENT OF WAR
Recent articles and lectures could be preparing the Soviet public
Recent articles and lectures could be preparing the Soviet public for a prolonged and costly involvement in Afghanistan.
Recent articles and lectures could be preparing the Soviet public for a prolonged and costly involvement in Afghanistan. IN BRIEF
Recent articles and lectures could be preparing the Soviet public for a prolonged and costly involvement in Afghanistan. IN BRIEF
Recent articles and lectures could be preparing the Soviet public for a prolonged and costly involvement in Afghanistan. IN BRIEF
Recent articles and lectures could be preparing the Soviet public for a prolonged and costly involvement in Afghanistan. IN BRIEF
Recent articles and lectures could be preparing the Soviet public for a prolonged and costly involvement in Afghanistan. IN BRIEF
Recent articles and lectures could be preparing the Soviet public for a prolonged and costly involvement in Afghanistan. IN BRIEF
Recent articles and lectures could be preparing the Soviet public for a prolonged and costly involvement in Afghanistan. IN BRIEF
Recent articles and lectures could be preparing the Soviet public for a prolonged and costly involvement in Afghanistan. IN BRIEF
Recent articles and lectures could be preparing the Soviet public for a prolonged and costly involvement in Afghanistan. IN BRIEF
Recent articles and lectures could be preparing the Soviet public for a prolonged and costly involvement in Afghanistan. IN BRIEF
Recent articles and lectures could be preparing the Soviet public for a prolonged and costly involvement in Afghanistan. IN BRIEF
Recent articles and lectures could be preparing the Soviet public for a prolonged and costly involvement in Afghanistan. IN BRIEF
Recent articles and lectures could be preparing the Soviet public for a prolonged and costly involvement in Afghanistan. IN BRIEF
Recent articles and lectures could be preparing the Soviet public for a prolonged and costly involvement in Afghanistan. IN BRIEF
Recent articles and lectures could be preparing the Soviet public for a prolonged and costly involvement in Afghanistan. IN BRIEF
Recent articles and lectures could be preparing the Soviet public for a prolonged and costly involvement in Afghanistan. IN BRIEF

SOVA M 83-10027CX

25X1

25X1

•		5T00287R000700
•
·

Sanitized Copy Approv	ed for Release 2010/08/10 : C	IA-RDP85T00287R000700540002-6
			25 X 1
•
	ent: The free market mo	ney bazaar is an extralegal, but integral	part, of the financia	al sector of Afghanistan It probably owned ha	/ IInances more commerciants. Money barrar deals	al transactions than the state-
16469111	ng details of their free	rs are notoriously reticent about wheeling and profitable dealings.	25X1
Despite	the criticism from t	he Khalois and the net+:-1	25/(1 emparass	sment to the Soviets, the	Afghan Government could use the scandar	to crack down on curi	rency speculation which takes bank rat	The scandal however	petween the bazaar rate and the underscores corruption within the Babr	ak regime and among Sovie	et officials in Afghanistan.	25 X 1 20/(1
NEW CANDOR IN S	SOVIET DOMESTIC TREATMENT	OF WAR	25 X 1
Komso	molskaya Pravda acknowle	edged Saturday that three more	25 X 1
Soviet s	oldiers were killed in Af	phanistan Red Stor corried and Nazis,	claiming they have kills	ring the Afghan insurgents to d thousands of Afghans in their efforts	to overthrow the regime i	n Kabul.	25X1 20/(1
Last	week, Soviet lecturers i	n Moscow were unusually frank in eras of	both Taraki and Amin	e Afghan Communists during the They admitted that the "godless	25X1 Communis	L Dabrak Karmal faced a	n unhill struggle in attmastica	20/(1
aupport.	for his government's muc	h more pragmatic policies in a TOUC WILL	ere the economic level	and class consciousment of the US send	ing increasing amounts	lecturers asserted that with the improving	g its military position	of aid to the resistance and in the region, Soviet national interest	s required that the	USSR continue to do ita
internati	ionalist duty in Afghanis	tan.	25X1
Commer	ot. The Soviete have fatalitie	es in Arghanistan, and d	eviously admitted only two other only a dozen articles over the	25X1
rast fill	ee years nave acknowledge	the problems the Soviete face
there or	indirectly ninted at So	OVIET marticipation in combat nost of December-	these-such as those	that appeared in Dad Ct
to Afghan	nistan around the annivers	counter Western press attention	0EV4
5	and and very	or the invasion.	25X1
	7		25X1
		8 February 1983	20/(1
	_	NESA M 83-10031CX
	3	SOVA M 83-10027CX

Sanitized Copy Approved for Release 2010/08/10 : CIA-RDP85T00287R000700540002	2-6
	. 25 X 1
	•
The two new articles, which came soon after a recent conforance of propagandists in Moscow, suggest that the more open media handling of Soviet internal affairs will also apply to the USSR's treatment of its Afghan problem. The comparison of Afghan	25X1 insurgents to Nazis and the invocation of a threat to Soviet security interests are themes intended to appeal to Soviet patriotism. The articles and lectures could be intended to	• indeposit demostic griping about the high costs of the war or prepare the public for a prolonged if not intensified, involvement in Afghanistan.	25X1
involvement in Arghanistan.	23/1
IN DDIEF
IN BRIEF	0574
	25X1
	25 X 1
	25/(1
Press reports state that Afghan Minister of Defense Lt.
General Abdul Oader arrived in Moscow on 4 February Qader has	25X1
met with Soviet Defense Minister Ustinov and probably talked about Soviet aid and perhaps the Cordovez mission.	25X6
	25V6
	25 X 6
	25 X 1
8 February 1983	25X1
NESA M 83-10031CX	20/(1
4 SOVA H 83-10027CX

	Sanitized Copy Approv	ed for Release 2010/08	/10 : CIA-RDP85T002	287R000700540002	-6
•
	•
	•

8 February 1983 NESA M 83-10031CX SOVA M 83-10027CX

	Sanitized Copy Approved for Release 2010/08/10 : CIA-RDP85T00287R000700540002-6
		25X1
	PERSPECTIVE
	PAKISTAN: IMPLICATIONS OF AFGHAN REFUGEE RESETTLEMENT IN PUNJAB	25 X 1
	by NESA	25X1
/.	Pakistan has proposed to move 200,000 unregistered Afghan refugees from the North-West Frontier Province (NWFP) to camps in Punjab in order to relieve overcrowding and political and economic pressures in the NWFP. The proposal is a measure of the increasing strain on the national government to care for the large Afghan refugee population. Punjabi officials have taken a strong stand on accepting no more than 200,000 refugees, only a tenth of the number estimated officially to be in the NWFP.	25X1
2 .	We believe that the prospect of permanently integrating several million Afghans into a society that has already absorbed huge refugee flows, first at the time of partition from India in 1947 and again after the separation of the eastern wing (Bangladesh) in 1971, could excite Punjabi fears of inundation by still another wave of outsiders in areas that have heretofore been little concerned with the Afghan troubles.
		25 X 1
/	The US Embassy speculates that Pakistan is fast approaching the saturation point for the total number of refugees that the country can absorb without tearing its already fragile political, social, and economic fabric. Islamabad is gambling that moving the predominantly Pushtun Afghan refugees out of traditional Pushtun areas in the NWFP can be accomplished peacefully and that resettlement in Punjab will proceed with minimum damage to the province's social and economic well-being.	0EV4
	Alki I was mark the state of th	25 X 1
3	Although most refugees still believe that they will eventually return home and Pakistani officials frequently reiterate this sentiment, we do not believe that repatriation is likely in the near future given the present state of war and politics in Afghanistan. The move to Punjab will reinforce perceptions among all Pakistanis that the bulk of the refugees will not return to Afghanistan, according to a US Embassy	,
	analysis.	25 X 1
	9. Fahauaan 1093	25 X 1

8 February 1983 NESA M 83-10031CX SOVA M 83-10027CX

Sanitized Copy Approved for Release 2010/08/10 : CIA-RDP85T00287R000700540002-6

Sanitized Copy Approved for Release 2010/08/10: CIA-RDP85T00287R000700540002-6

Sanitized Copy Appro	ved for Release 2010/08/10 : CIA-RDP85T00287R000700540002-6
•		25)
•
Resettlement P1	ans
According to th moved by mid-resettlement, prepared, and	y 6,000 refugees were transferred from the NWFP to Punjab mber and 12 January, according to a US Embassy report. e Pakistani press, a total of 40,000 refugees are to be April. Elaborate planning has been completed for camp administrators have been appointed, the campsite coordination with the United Nations High Commission for Refugees officia	als worked out.	25)
provincial gover to a camp in a relatively remo	US Embassy reporting, considerable political and social were involved in the decision by the national and rnment to move refugees for the first time from the NWFP nonborder province. The location of the camp, in the ote northwest corner of Punjab was chosen to minimize tion with Punjabis and to limit their impact on the pany.	25)
Islamnagar, was officials who contacked adequate this location, reported that the had been laid dispensaries, so geodesic dome ho to be issued only	government plans to concentrate the refugees in two of 100,000 residents each. The first site, called as opposed by UN, government of Pakistan, and NWFP charged that it was too hilly and excessively hot and water. Nonetheless, the Punjab governor insisted on and by the middle of December 1982, the US Embassy we land had been leveled, wells had been dug, home lots out, and plans completed for the installation of chools, mosques, shopping areas, and, in the longer term, cusing. Despite the ambitious plans, first arrivals were y tents, quilts, kerosene stoves, and food rations, and se no amenities other than water.	25)
For Islamabad refugees is the for refugee sett environment—not refugees shelter every seven pers resources of the not in camps and	, the overriding positive result of the transfer of the relief that it affords the NWFP, where land available lement is fast disappearing and pressures on the fragile ably on forest and water resources—are mounting. The ed in the official camps, representing about one in ons in the province, have nearly saturated the physical area. The tens of thousands of unregistered refugees the few thousand a month still trickling into the area—who comprise the population to be resettled in the ranjab compound	che problem.	25)
		O.E.
	8 Fahrur 1002	25)
	8 February 1983 NESA M 83-10031CX 7 SOVA M 83-10027CX

SOVA M 83-10027CX

	Sanitized Copy Approved for Release 2010/08/10 : CIA-RDP85T00287R000700540002-6
		25X1
	Punjabi Concerns: Ethnic Conflict and Job Competition
5	We believe that social and economic pressures that the refugee transfer will create are clearly of concern to Punjabi authorities, even though they are reluctant to acknowledge possible problems and want the camps in their province to be showpieces.	25 X 1
1,3	By settling refugees in the Punjab, Islamabad loses the advantage of the ethnic and linguistic compatibility that now exists between the Afghan and Pakistani Pushtun populations in the NWFP. Although there are some Pushtun-speaking people in the new campsite area, the US Embassy expects possible ethnic confrontations if the refugees leave the immediate areas and compete for jobs with Punjabis. We believe that the Afghan Pushtuns' distinctive cultural and ethnic behavior could also spark conflict. They will not be able to blend easily into the population of Punjabi-speaking areas, which, unlike the immediate border areas where the refugees are now confined, have so far not had to play host to Afghan tribesmen on yearly migration or as seasonal workseekers. The cultural and tribal setting that has made feasible the reception of the Afghans in the NWFP is absent in Punjab.	25 X 1
1,3	transportation companies. In Baluchistan the government has attempted to isolate refugee camps from local job markets in an effort to address local Baluchi fear of becoming a minority in their own province. Despite these efforts, the streets of Quetta are crowded with Afghans (local officials estimate some 100,000 are resident) and, although periodically rounded up by authorities and sent back to the camps, they quickly return.	25X1
3	Western observers note further that the establishment of the camps in Punjab is likely to be perceived by Pakistanis as a government move toward de facto assimilation that will eventually result in a permanent Afghan presence. We believe that complaints about the refugees may become widespread and vehement. Even now newspaper editorials voice

 I_{i}

8 February 1983 NESA M 83-10031CX SOVA M 83-10027CX

25X1

Sa	anitized Copy Approved for Release 2010/08/10 : CIA-RDP85T00287R000700540002-6
•		25)
	·
	concern that Afghans overcrowd public facilities such as hospitals and bazaars, that they contribute to inflation and lower local living standards, and that they receive free food, shelter, and medical care even though they are employed in the local economy.	25
	Refugee Concerns: A Hostile Environment
/	The refugees' uncertain future will be further undercut, in our opinion, as large numbers are moved arbitrarily from Pushtun areas into potentially hostile areas. In our view, the added distance of the new camps from the border and from Peshawar, where the resistance organization headquarters are located, will make the Punjabi sites particularly unpopular with the mujahadeen among the transferred peoples. We do not believe that assurances from Pakistani officials that families will be kept together in the new camps and that every effort will be made to respect ethnic and tribal concerns will overcome the reluctance of the refugees to move. We therefore expect the refugee transfer to the new camps to create morale and adjustment problems for the refugees and control problems for the Pakistani Government.	25)
	Outlook.	20
3	Our assessment is that popular resentment could be exploited by opposition politicians as the presence of the largely Pushtun refugee burden begins to fall on nontribal people outside the two border provinces. As the politically dominant province in Pakistan, complaints from Punjab about the refugees will be loudly heard in Islamabad and could heighten already major concerns about the eventual outcome of the refugee problem. The government will have difficulty limiting the Afghans to a noneconomic role in Punjab, in our opinion, and conflicts over job competition could present situations easily manipulated into antiregime confrontations.	25.
:2	We believe refugee uncertainties of their future will be reinforced and tensions among them more pronounced as thousands are arbitrarily moved, underlining the full import of their dependence on Pakistani decisions. Although we are sure the Pakistani Government is prepared and able to enforce its will on refugee resettlement, Afghans are a volatile people, well armed and troublesome, and could be a source of serious law and order problems for Pakistan.	25
		25
	8 February 1983 NESA M 83-10031CX	20,

9

SOVA M 83-10027CX

	Sanitized Copy Approved for Release 2010/08/10: CIA-RDP85T00287R000700540002-6
,	op Secret
, [

25X1

Top Secret