Dear [Redacted]

STAT

In accordance with our telephone conversation, I am enclosing the list of students and staff for this year's visit to the CIA on Thursday May 20th.

Once again, let me express my appreciation to you for making the arrangements for meeting once more with [Redacted] and for scheduling the transportation to and from Langley.

STAT

I look forward with pleasure to seeing you next month.

Sincerely,

Dear [Redacted]

STAT

Thank you for your letter of March 26, 1982 inviting the Director to meet with the seminar students from the Maxwell School. Unfortunately, Mr. Casey will be away from Washington during the latter part of May and, hence, must decline your invitation. He would be happy, however, to provide one of his senior aides as a substitute to discuss the dual roles for the CIA in providing information for the President and in coordinating the intelligence functions of the Federal Government.

The Coordinator for Academic Relations, [Redacted] whom I believe you have met before, will be in touch with you shortly to make final arrangements for the briefing.

STAT

I had an opportunity to read the brochure which you sent with the invitation to the Director. Your program for the Washington Seminar is an ambitious one but your goal, a better understanding of the key issues and participants in the affairs of our Government, is a most worthy one. May I offer, on behalf of Mr. Casey as well as myself, best wishes for the success of your 1982 Seminar.

Sincerely yours,

Mr. William J. Casey, Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Mr. Casey:

For more than a quarter century, agency heads in both Democratic and Republican administrations have been meeting in Washington, D.C. with our seminar students in valuable discussions about the formation and execution of national policy. This year we shall be examining four key areas -- economic policy, defense and foreign policy, regulatory policy and environmental policy as they evolve in the second year of the Reagan Administration.

In view of your own role in that administration, we invite you to meet with us, between May 10th and 28th, for perhaps an hour of discussion about the vital role of the CIA in providing information for the President and in coordinating the other intelligence work of the Federal government. There will be some 20 to 25 undergraduate and graduate students who will be happy to meet with you at a place and time of your choice.

If you will be able to meet with us, may I suggest Friday May 21st at 2:00 PM as a possible time? This is only a suggestion, however, and we shall be happy to schedule another time more convenient for you. If it is not possible for you to meet with us personally, perhaps you might be able to arrange for us to meet with one of your senior aids.

Many thanks for your assistance and cooperation. I hope to have the pleasure of meeting you in May.

Sincerely,

[Redacted Signature]
