Honorable William J. Casey.
Director of Central Intelligence
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Bill:

In June 1983, I wrote to you concerning [redacted] a member of your Senior Intelligence Service, who was detailed to the Department at my request in September 1981. In that letter, I described the outstanding work he has performed and enclosed a letter from Assistant Secretary Thorne G. Auchter, his immediate supervisor, which detailed [redacted] role [redacted]

The purpose of this letter is to advise you that [redacted] performance over the past year has continued to be of the highest caliber and to thank you for considering these factors in reviewing [redacted] for his recent promotion. His subsequent promotion was a proper reward for his accomplishments and service to us and properly recognizes the growth of his managerial abilities.

[redacted] has consistently demonstrated an impressive understanding and appreciation of sensitive policy issues and has creatively managed resources to maximize support for the goals and objectives of this Administration.
His many accomplishments are especially commendable given the diversity of issues and limitations of personnel and resources with which he has had to work. He is, without question, a resourceful and skilled manager of people, issues, time and policy.

STAT

As [redacted] service here is about to conclude, I wanted you to be aware of the high regard we at the Department of Labor have for him both personally and professionally. You are fortunate to have this caliber of individual returning to your Senior Intelligence Service.

Sincerely,

Raymond J. Donovan
