Academic Relations and Presentations

While we are little in the news these days, interest in the Agency is nonetheless unusually high. The number of requests we received in July 1984 for the DCI and DDCI to speak to various groups almost doubled in number those received in July 1983.

We have assisted the Office of Personnel and the Directorate of Intelligence in developing their new recruitment brochures. These new handouts are a credit to the Agency, as well as OP and the DI which produced them.

As a followup to the presentation given by [redacted] last week to the ASTRA (U.S. Air staff), officers, the colonel in charge of the program has requested an expanded briefing program for the next group of about 30 officers which arrives in the Fall. We will accommodate them.

[redacted] physicist and chairman of the department there for ten years, is about to complete eight months as a Scholar-in-Residence with the Office of Research and Development, DS&T. He initiated contact on 2 August to express his great satisfaction with the experience, to provide a copy of a monograph (in classified and unclassified versions) he has written about the experience, and to suggest some ways in which the Agency might enhance its contacts with academia. His monograph has been submitted to "Studies in Intelligence" for possible publication.
