Mr. William Casey

Washington, D. C. 20505

Dear Mr. Casey:

With all the Pittsburgh citizens present at your recent World Affairs Council presentation, I want to join in an expression of thanks and admiration for your excellent public portrayal of the Agency's responsibilities and challenges.

Even more, I want to thank you for your generous contribution of time and intellect to the session with selected faculty in my office at the University of Pittsburgh. As we discussed, the American experts who work in your public institution and mine and others like it are part of one large professional community with common interests and standards of excellence, even though there are obvious differences in missions.

Hence, the point I brought up and stressed about our federal government's investment in foreign area studies and other international academic programs was motivated out of my own genuine concern for national security, and the strongest conviction that the few dozen million dollars per year of federal funding required in this sector are the wisest thinkable investment that we as a government can make. Termination of these programs would be true cause for gratification among the informed planners in Moscow.

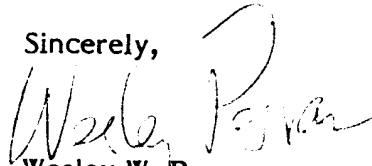

Ironically, we educators concerned with national security have had to fight and win against the elimination of funds for this sector over and over, year after year, by budget trimmers in OMB, under both Republican and Democrat administrations. It would be a marvelous gain if these programs became a durable line item in the budget of any executive agency, if not Education, then Defense or State. Then, in a stable atmosphere, the responsible experts would be enabled annually to make substantive arguments for reasoned increases and shifting priorities, to meet long-term requirements for our diplomatic, military and intelligence services.

Having made this pitch, let me thank you again for your contribution in Pittsburgh. Also, let me add my personal expression of support as a career public servant to the kinds of objectives which you are so ably serving in your tremendous role of responsibility.

Sincerely,

Wesley W. Posvar
President

Dear Mr. Casey:

We are all grateful to you for giving us a day of your valuable time to inform us about the state of U.S. intelligence. (The thought of the KGB Director doing likewise before Soviet citizens would be ludicrous indeed!)

During these troublous times it is reassuring for American citizens to know that we have a person of your admirable capabilities in charge of the country's intelligence organization.

I would like to take this opportunity also to commend the efficiency and professionalism of [redacted] His operation was as smooth as fine silk. It was a joy working with him. Also, [redacted] helped us tremendously in the preparation of your visit.

Thank you for coming to Pittsburgh and sharing your thoughts with us.

April 11, 1985

The Honorable William J. Casey
Director, Central Intelligence
Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Mr. Casey:

I learned with pleasure from Dr. George Mitchell of the Pittsburgh Council on World Affairs of your upcoming visit to our city on Monday, 29 April 1985. George has offered to share your time with us -- given your consent, of course -- and we are eager to accept his offer. Hence, I would like to formally invite your leadership and participation in a President's Roundtable, which is an informal discussion involving 15-20 senior faculty members and administrative officers of the University.

Since this is an informal discussion, I think the scope and nature of the discourse should be set by you. On previous occasions, General Haig has chosen to take questions, Admiral Turner to make a brief presentation and Mr. Rostow to pose questions to the group, so you have a wide range of options. If you decide in advance on a particular approach and topic, I will communicate that to the attendees but if not you may decide "on the spot".

As I mentioned earlier, the participants will be drawn from among senior members of the faculty with a particular interest in security policy and/or decision-making and from senior academic administrators. A tentative list of invitees is enclosed for your information. In the absence of President Posvar (who will be at your luncheon talk but who must, to his regret, leave town before the Roundtable), Dr. Roger Benjamin, Vice President and Provost of the University, will preside. He and all of us here look forward to your visit and to what we know will be a fruitful exchange.

With every good wish, I am

Yours sincerely,

Dear Mr. Casey:

I wanted to express to you not only my appreciation but that of all those attending the session last Monday for your frank, interesting and informative presentation. I had many (unsolicited) testimonials to this effect, as well as a profound expression of regret from one individual who was in class when you started and therefore missed most of your responses.

I am indeed pleased that you managed to find time for a tour of our Nationality Rooms and for a visit to the Book Center. Since these, while interesting, are but a small part of what the University of Pittsburgh has to offer, I hope that realization of what you missed will tempt you to come again. To this, we all look forward.

Unfortunately, a long-standing Westinghouse Management

Mr. George C. Mitchell
 Executive Director
 World Affairs Council of Pittsburgh
 100 Fifth Avenue
 Pittsburgh, PA 15222

Dear Mr. Mitchell:

This is to confirm arrangements for CIA Director William J. Casey's trip to Pittsburgh to speak to the World Affairs Council and to meet with the editors and publishers of the press and University of Pittsburgh President Dr. Wesley W. Posvar on Monday, 29 April. Mr. Casey is looking forward to his day in your city. Your suggestion of reserving a day room at the Duquesne Club would be most convenient for him. Please let us know as to the method of payment.

According to our conversation, you are making arrangements for Mr. Casey to meet with the editors of the Pittsburgh newspapers during the morning before the luncheon. Could you give me the names of the individuals as well as the time and place of the meeting. Also, we would appreciate knowing more about the meeting with Dr. Posvar to include the time, place, format, names and titles of the individuals.

We would appreciate any additional information on the World Affairs Council of Pittsburgh other than the brochures that you have already sent us: a tentative agenda for the day, the general make-up of the luncheon audience (its size, background, and affiliations), and who from the press you expect to be present. The press release that you gave us for the luncheon will be alright. The suggested format for the luncheon address is 30 minutes of remarks followed by 30 minutes of Q's and A's. As we have discussed, we do not mind having the print media cover the luncheon, but we do request that you not allow television or radio coverage. Although Mr. Casey does not grant press interviews, we have no objection if your newsletter photographer takes still portraits of Mr. Casey. We also request that Mr. Casey's speech be taped by the Council for our historical records.

Closer to the time of the address, I would appreciate knowing who will be introducing Mr. Casey and who will be with him on the dais. Will a neck mike as well as a podium mike be available? A sketch of the banquet room and table arrangement at the hotel would also be helpful. In addition, I need telephone numbers and addresses of the Duquesne Club, the Pittsburgh Hilton Hotel and the location of where he will be at the University of Pittsburgh.

We would appreciate receiving a tentative list of names with affiliations of the CEO's attending the off-the-record Executive Leadership Group Council dinner meeting at the Duquesne Club. You suggested approximately 5 minutes of remarks by Mr. Casey followed by 45 minutes of discussion. Since this is an informal meeting we do not require that remarks be taped. Per our agreement neither foreign nationals nor members of the press will attend.

I look forward to working with you in preparation for this event. If you have any questions please feel free to call me at (703) 351-2546.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Casey:

I extend a cordial invitation to you to be the guest speaker of the World Affairs Council of Pittsburgh next month on a date suitable to you. You may recall that Mr. R. Daniel McMichael, Vice President of the Council, spoke to you on January 15 about coming to Pittsburgh to speak.

As you know, Pittsburgh is the third largest corporate headquarters city in the United States (after New York and Chicago), with 16 of the nation's largest industrial firms here.

If you could arrive in the late afternoon, we would like to have you dine with the Council's Executive Leadership Group, comprising the heads of banks, firms and foundations of Pittsburgh. At such dinners approximately 20 top executives are seated around one table, hear some brief informal comments from the guest speaker and then engage in a dialogue with him. All discussion is off-the-record.

The following morning we could arrange for you to meet with the editors and/or publishers of the three local daily newspapers. Also, if you wish, we could arrange a closed meeting with the President, Dr. Wesley W. Posvar, and selected social science professors of the University of Pittsburgh. At a public luncheon at noon you would be the guest speaker before an audience of approximately 500 men and women representing business, industry, academia, the professions and students.

Owing to the short 50-minute flight between our two cities, you could be back to your office in mid-afternoon.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Central Intelligence

FROM: George V. Lauder
Director, Public Affairs Office

SUBJECT: Invitation to Address the World Affairs Council of Pittsburgh

1. Action Requested: Accept or decline invitation from the World Affairs Council of Pittsburgh to visit their city sometime in March or April to address their club membership, meet with their Executive Leadership Group, and talk with the President and selected faculty of the University of Pittsburgh.

2. Possible Agenda: Vice President of the World Affairs Council of Pittsburgh and Secretary to the Sarah Scaife and Carthage Foundations Mr. R. Daniel McMichael invited you to be a guest speaker at the World Affairs Council of Pittsburgh when he saw you in Washington on 15 January. Following this verbal invitation, President of the World Affairs Council of Pittsburgh, Mr. John C. Marous, Jr., has now written you extending a formal invitation. He requests that you accept three distinct engagements: a general membership luncheon, a dinner with the Council's Executive Leadership Group, and a meeting with the President and faculty of The University of Pittsburgh.

• Luncheon with General Membership:

The suggested format for the luncheon to be held at either the Hilton or the William Penn Hotel is lunch from 12:00 to 12:45 p.m. followed by 30 minutes of remarks and 30 minutes of Q's and A's. You could expect an audience of approximately 500 business and professional men and women, corporate leaders, academicians, and high school students sponsored by the World Affairs Education Committee. The writing press would cover your appearance, but we would request that TV and radio not be present. The Council probably considers this the most important occasion.

• Dinner Meeting with Members of the Executive Leadership Group:

Mr. Marous also suggests that you have an off-the-record, informal dinner meeting at the Duquesne Club with approximately 20 CEO's of leading corporations who are members of the Executive Leadership Group of the Council. (See list for attendees opposite.)

SUBJECT: Invitation to Address the World Affairs Council of Pittsburgh

• Meeting with University President Dr. Wesley W. Posvar and Selected Social Science Professors:

Arrangements could also be made for you to have a closed meeting with the President of the University of Pittsburgh Dr. Wesley W. Posvar and selected social science professors. President Posvar who was an early participant (1978) in the Agency's briefings for university presidents serves on your Military-Economic Advisory Panel. The Agency has extensive contracts with the University of Pittsburgh, and has a group of consultant researchers among the faculty at the University. Dr. Joseph I. Coffey, Director of International Security Studies at the University Center for International Studies, regularly invites Agency officers to participate in a wide variety of international symposia held at the campus. Dr. Coffey participated in a dinner-discussion with former DCI Turner in December 1978 concerning the intelligence's role in arms control verification. We have some 87 alumni of the University working in the Agency.

In addition, if you wish, we could arrange for you to meet with the editors and publishers of the PITTSBURGH PRESS and the PITTSBURGH POST-GAZETTE.

3. Possible Dates: The group only meets on certain dates in March and April. Their schedule is too complicated to go into at this time. If you accept this invitation my staff will work out a convenient date with  for March or April. It is about a 50-minute flight from Washington to Pittsburgh and there are several flights a day. It is possible that you could take the 7:45 a.m. flight from National and return on the 9:00 p.m. flight arriving at Dulles at approximately 10:00 p.m.

A young plane

4. Background: Pittsburgh is the third largest corporate headquarters city in the United States (after New York and Chicago), with 16 of the nation's largest industrial firms located in the area. Since 1931, the World Affairs Council of Pittsburgh, a non-profit and non-partisan educational organization, has sponsored programs on American foreign policy and world affairs. The Council's program aims to keep its membership informed on foreign affairs in order to better deal with foreign economies. According to Council's brochure "a sixth of U.S. workers are producing for the export trade, a third of our corporate profits are coming from business abroad, and half of our grain crop is being sold overseas; it is evident we cannot ignore occurrences beyond our shores." Recently the Council did a study proving Cuban-Soviet responsibility for revolution in Central America. Chairman of the Sarah Scaife Foundation Richard M. Scaife is a member of the Council's Board of Directors. (See brochures for further information and list of the Board of Directors opposite.)

SUBJECT: Invitation to Address the World Affairs Council of Pittsburgh

Previous speakers at the Council have been FBI Director William H. Webster, Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Inter-American Affairs Nestor D. Sanchez, Director of U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency Kenneth L. Adelman, President of United Steelworkers Lynn Williams, and Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger. (See Nexis run opposite). During Secretary Weinberger's presentation a handful of demonstrators appeared outside the hotel.

Dear Mr. Overman:

Thank you for inviting CIA Director William J. Casey to address a meeting of the Y Group in Washington, DC, on 13 or 14 May.

Although a member of Mr. Casey's staff called you to decline the invitation, he also asked me to send his regrets. Due to travel plans, he was unable to accept the honor.

We wish you a successful meeting.

Dear Mr. Casey:

I would like to invite you to address a meeting of the Y Group in Washington, D.C. The meeting will be held in a private dining room in the Four Seasons Hotel. We would be very happy if you could speak at either the 6:00 p.m. or 7:30 p.m. meetings on May 13, or at the breakfast meeting at 7:30 a.m. on the 14th.

The Y Group was organized by Bill Ylvisaker, Chairman of the Board of Gould Inc., in 1972 and contains a membership of chief or senior executive officers. The Y Group is presently chaired by E. M. de Windt, Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer of Eaton Corporation. (A list of Y Group members is enclosed.) The group does not lobby in any way. Their purposes are stated in the enclosed charter.

On a quarterly basis, the group holds three to four meetings over a two-day period in Washington. The meetings consist of private, informal sessions designed to enhance communications between the public and private sector.

In the recent past, the group has had informal meetings with Congressman James R. Jones, Rudy Penner, Director of the Congressional Budget Office, Jack Svahn, Assistant to the President for Policy Development, Edwin Meese, III, Counsellor to the President, Lyn Nofziger, Edward Rollins, Campaign Director (Reagan-Bush '84), Robert Strauss, Fred Fielding, Counsel to the President, Senator Charles Percy,

The meetings are conducted in an informal setting with no press allowed, and the agenda would be for you to give some comments followed by a question and answer period.

I realize that your schedule is very busy, but hope that you will be able to meet with the Y Group.

Bill-

You indicated in a previous memo that you would be interested in addressing the Aerospace Industries Association of America. Attached is a letter from the President of the Association Karl G. Harr inviting you to give an off-the-record address at their spring conference in Williamsburg, Virginia, on Thursday, 23 May, at 10:00 a.m. You accepted last year but had to cancel due to the President's visit to Headquarters. Also included is a list of the senior members of the Association. We have tentatively put this on your schedule, and wish to confirm that you are still interested in speaking to this group.

Office of the President

February 6, 1985

The Honorable William J. Casey
Director, Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Mr. Casey:

In May, for the 39th consecutive year, the chief executives of the 50 major companies that make up the Aerospace Industries Association will gather in Williamsburg, Virginia, to meet with key government officials and share ideas on common concerns. This is to invite you to address this annual Spring Conference at 10:00 a.m., Thursday, May 23. You may recall that circumstances prevented your appearance before the same group last year. You did address us in 1974 in your role as head of the Export-Import Bank. Our conference, I believe, would provide an excellent opportunity to present your views in an off the record atmosphere to an interested and attentive audience.

You can expect a gathering of some 175 -- the chief executives mentioned plus up to three each of their top lieutenants. Their companies design and manufacture the principal weapon systems for the nation's armed services, as well as related aviation and space products that keep the United States in the forefront of high technology. I have attached a list of our senior members to provide a feel for the individuals to whom you would be speaking as well as the companies they represent.

The Williamsburg meeting traditionally is closed to press and public to encourage a free and frank dialogue. We would hope for 25-30 minutes of remarks followed by a period for questions.

We know the demands on your time are heavy, but we strongly believe that carrying your thoughts to this group will provide productive direction to executives who play key roles in our nation's defense program.

I look forward to hearing from you in the hope that you will be able to join us in Williamsburg on May 22.

Yours very truly,

Karl G. Harr, Jr.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Central Intelligence

FROM: George V. Lauder
Director, Public Affairs Office

SUBJECT: Invitation to Address the Aerospace Industries
Association of America, Inc.

1. Action Requested: Accept or decline the invitation to address the Aerospace Industries Association of America's (AIA) annual Spring Conference on Thursday, 24 May, from 11:20 a.m.-12:00 p.m., at the Williamsburg Inn Conference Center in Williamsburg, Virginia.

2. Background: Karl G. Harr, Jr., President of AIA, has invited you to speak at their 38th annual Spring Conference. You could expect an audience of approximately 175 CEOs and their top lieutenants representing 48 major companies. (See list of the senior members opposite.) According to Mr. Harr, the meeting is traditionally closed to press and public in order to encourage a free and frank dialogue. They have suggested that in the 40-minute period you give 20-30 minutes of remarks and allow the remaining time for questions and answers. They have also asked Secretary of the Air Force Verne Orr; Administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration James Beggs; and General Counsel, Office of Secretary of Defense, William H. Taft IV, to speak this year.

You addressed this group in May 1974 while you were serving as President and Chairman of the Export-Import Bank. Last year Senator John Heinz (R, PA), White House Office of Science and Technology Adviser George Keyworth, Deputy Secretary of Defense Paul Thayer, and Air Force General Robert T. Marsh spoke at the convention speakers. Admiral Turner addressed them in 1978.

AIA Conference is designed to allow chief executives representing the aerospace industries to meet with key government officials and share ideas on common concerns. The companies that are members of the AIA design and manufacture major weapon systems, as well as the commercial transport aircraft, the space systems, and related aviation and space products. Recently the AIA proposed a package of changes in laws and regulations governing research and development and trade to advance U.S. technology and boost export sales. Among the suggestions: broader tax credits, more generous defense contracts, higher direct government spending, and a loosening of antitrust laws. (See print out opposite.)

3. Recommendation: This is an excellent group of chief executives from major high technology companies. It would be a good opportunity for you to discuss the Agency's concern for technology transfer and other issues. If your schedule permits, I recommend that you attend.
