MEMORANDUM FOR: Director, Foreign Broadcast Information Service

THROUGH

: Chief, Operations Group

SUBJECT

: Monthly Report -- Swaziland Bureau -- August 1987

I. GENERAL

On 6 August, an "unknown gunman" killed two suspected members of the ANC in Mbabane, Swaziland, bringing to 11 the number of ANC members who have been killed in the country this year by what are widely believed to be RSA squads. The American community has not noticed an increased level of threat to the community, though Swazi Police appeared on the streets armed for about a week after the incident.

II. OPERATIONS

A. Monitorial/Editorial

- 1. Most of the approximately 300,000 South African miners who had been participating in the largest and longest strike in RSA mining history started returning to work on 31 August, exactly 3 weeks after the strike began. Neither side claimed victory, as the miners failed to win their demanded wage increase, but did receive increased benefits. The cost was high with 9 miners dead, 500 injured, and 400 detained in strike related violence. About 30,000 miners were dismissed, and it is still not clear how many will be rehired. The financial cost in lost production and wages was put at $125 million.
- 2. In a series of five speeches as part of the House of Assembly debate on the RSA budget, South African President P.W. Botha made a number of important domestic and foreign policy statements. He announced a plan to amend the constitution to delay national elections until 1992. He condemned talks in Dakar between a delegation of Afrikaners and the ANC, and warned of measures to restrict the activities and funding of such "extra-parliamentary" groups. He also promised to maintain the state of emergency as long as necessary. He pledged to continue observing the Nkomati Accord, but warned Mozambique of the consequences of violating its provisions. Finally, he reiterated RSA policy on Namibia and affirmed his country's readiness to hold talks with Angola on resolving the issue.
- 3. At the end of the month, the RSA home affairs minister announced still more restrictions on the press, designed to curb the alternative or "revolution-supporting" media. These would allow the government to ban for up to 3 months publications that, in its view, promote revolution and uprising in the country.

- 4. Mozambican President Joaquim Chissano made his first official visit to the Soviet Union from 3 to 6 August. He was followed on 24 August by Defense Minister Chipande, who also visited the GDR. Analysts commenting on the visits suggested that the USSR was willing to continue military assistance but apparently was reluctant to increase economic aid to the hard-pressed Mozambican regime.
- 5. In a joint communique on the visit by Angolan President Dos Santos to Cuba on 3 August, both countries indicated ammore flexible stand on the Namibia issue. On 5 August the Angolan Foreign Ministry disclosed that the government has presented a new proposal to the United States on the same issue, which it claimed would bring lasting peace to southern African.
- 6. On 6 August, Angolan President Dos Santos announced a new economic program designed to rehabilitate the country's ailing economy by increasing the role of the private sector. However, a subsequent radio commentary rejected the idea that this was in any way a repudiation of Angola's commitment to socialism.

B. Communications

- 1. The Bureau experienced an unusual number of circuit and Telex outages during the month. The longest lasted 4 days and was attributed to a major cable break in the TDM at Johannesburg PTT.
- 2. The Bureau received and installed the replacement hard disk for the IBM XT, which was pouched by ADD. There have been no recurrences of earlier problems attributed to bad sectors on the original hard disk.

C. Cruising/Lateral Services

The Bureau's continuing efforts to monitor the UNITA clandestine Voice of Resistance of the Black Cockerel met with some success during the month, as the Portuguese section was able to process five commentaries and communiques from very poor reception. Checks continue on a daily basis, but reception is not reliable enough to place the radio on regular coverage.

D. Technical

Five lightning arresters have been installed on Bureau power lines in anticipation of the impending rainy season electrical storms.

III. ADMINISTRATION

A. Personnel

African languages Monitor Trainee tendered his resignation effective 12 September. A second candidate from the recruiting effort to fill the other vacancy in the section has accepted a job offer, and there are now two candidates in processing. Recruiting efforts for the vacancy in the Portuguese section have identified two candidates, who are completing the personal histroy forms.

B. Building and Grounds

The Bureau garage doors and all antenna poles on the grounds have received a fresh coat of paint.

IV. VISITS

The new Embassy Administrative Officer, Joe Schreiber, accompanied by GSO Gerald Hanisch, visited the Bureau and were given an orientation tour on 28 August.
