

SOCY.01.4 The Control of Candy Jones

RIGHTS AND PERMISSIONS
Paul S. Nathan

ALSO ON THE WAY . . .

"The Control of Candy Jones" by Donald Bain, which Playboy Press will publish May 30, has been bought by 20th Century-Fox for a guarantee topping $100,000, with provision for a percentage of profits plus increments related to possible appearances on PW's best-seller list. Miss Jones was a popular model when, according to this account, she was inveigled through hypnosis into serving as a courier for the CIA.

Adams, Ray & Rosenberg in Hollywood made the sale in cooperation with Scott Meredith in New York, the latter representing Miss Jones and her radio-commentator husband Long John Nebel in addition to Bain as literary client.