CSEM -

25X1

- A paper, "CSEM Phase II Wrap-up," has been completed and a package of materials assembled to summarize what has been accomplished in developing and engineering our CIPC collection strategy evaluation concept. This assemblage runs to 135 pages selected from the newly 400 pages of narrative, equations and diagrams we have produced on this project.
-  was contacted and reminded of the urgency with which we view his completion of the computer programming for the CSEM model. He is fully aware of his responsibility and has promised to work on it.

Intelligence Support to SDI -

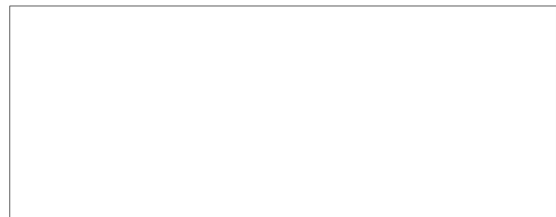

- The SDI working group met on 22 July. At that meeting, Carlos and Rich received additional written inputs from DIA, Army, and Air Force. Carlos and Rich informed the working group that they would draft a strawman version of the study using the inputs received to date. The strawman will elicit responses from those entities not tapped during the initial input stage. Most working group members did at least discuss several of the SDI issues that most concerned them and their parent organizations: short-fuse requests for threat assessments, difficulty in ascertaining the status of SDI projects, concern over dissemination of intelligence information to contractors at home and abroad, Community competition with contractors generally, and perceived shortcomings in Community estimates and collection programs.
- In addition to drafting the strawman, Carlos and Rich are eliciting key inputs from SDIO, OSD, State, and CIA (DS&T, DO) and to follow-up on some of the less substantial inputs provided to PPS.
