NFIP Support for Contingency Operations - [Redacted]

25X1

- The working group met on 5 June to hear briefings on [Redacted] to sensitive military/paramilitary operations and DIA's National Military Intelligence Support Team. On 10 June, the working group was briefed on DIA's crisis management system and State's role in contingency operations. [Redacted]

- Last week, after reviewing an outline, the working group decided the study would focus on selected key issues and not on documenting how the various elements provide support to contingency operations. A new study outline is being prepared, and it along with request for inputs, will be handed out to members in the near future. [Redacted]

- As the magnitude of the task confronting the working group has become clearer in recent weeks, it also has become apparent to the members that two months is not sufficient time to develop a worthwhile study. Therefore, the working group's chairman is preparing a memorandum to you spelling out why it will take a little longer to complete the study than planned. To ensure that you and the DCI are kept fully informed of the group's progress, an interim report will be prepared by early July. [Redacted]

WEEKLY ACTIVITIES & STATUS REPORT FOR THE DD/ICS--11 June 1986

Intelligence Support to SDI - [redacted]

- Rich and Carlos met with [redacted] on Thursday and Friday to discuss information in the SDIO inputs which we need for the CIPC study. [redacted] agreed to provide us what we need before the next scheduled working group meeting on the 24th, so that [redacted] can task the other members to go after any substantial gaps in our data. This month-long delay has put the working group schedule in jeopardy, but [redacted] and some of the other working group members' initial hostility toward the CIPC study has largely dissipated for the time being.
- In the meantime, Rich and Carlos are attempting to gather inputs from SDI policymakers and some organizations within the Community that we have good reason to believe did not submit useful responses to the PPS-drafted memorandum from the D/ICS.
- It is worthy of note that [redacted] told the working group that he plans to brief the DCI and NFIP on his efforts in about two months once he has cleared his summary of the inputs with the submitting components.
