Comments (can be below or attached):

1. The proposed Subcommittee report does not appear to contain any information which requires protection against unauthorized disclosure in the interests of national security. As such, all security classification markings should be stricken from the document.

2. Inasmuch as the control and dissemination caveat indicated in Footnote 14 is not officially recognized, it should be replaced with a term or instruction that, when standing alone, conveys to the recipient a clear understanding of any dissemination limitations. (This was a specific problem area addressed by the Interagency Classification and Review Committee during March 1976.)
