Chief Internal Auditor, Library of Congress
Rm. LM617 James Madison Bldg.
Washington, DC 20540

Dear Mr. Rensbarger:

This letter is to inform you of an executive branch decision that may have applicability to your organization. The President, in responding to P.L. 99-169 in November 1986, forwarded to Congress the President's Report to Congress on the Nation's Counterintelligence and Security Countermeasures Plans, Programs, and Capabilities. The report, designed to inform Congress of efforts to improve the nation's security posture, contains several injunctions that should be applicable throughout the Federal Government.

One area of common applicability involves efforts to improve security awareness and training. On page 18 of the report the President states:

- o Adequacy of security training will be made an item of recurring interest for agency Inspectors General.

Since your organization handles classified material, we believe you may find that the course of action being taken within the executive branch is proper and useful to your organization. For your information, we are reporting biannually on our implementation of the commitments made in the President's report to the National Security Advisor, copies of which will go to the select committees on intelligence in both houses of Congress. The next of the biannual reports will most likely be delivered during the period just prior to Thanksgiving. I suggest that you consider the possible utility of providing a statement on your role in reviewing security training to the two select intelligence committees in the same time frame.

1. This memorandum is to bring to your attention, and to request that you report on, an injunction contained in the President's Report to the Congress on the Nation's Counterintelligence and Security Countermeasures Plans, Programs, and Capabilities that was sent by the President to the Congress in November 1986 in response to PL 99-169. On page 18 of the report, the President states:

- o Adequacy of security training will be made an item of recurring interest for agency Inspectors General.

2. Concurrent with the delivery of the report to the Congress, the President, by letter, instructed the Chairman, Senior Interagency Group-Intelligence (Director of Central Intelligence), to take the responsibility for reporting biannually on implementation of the commitments made in the report. The Chairman, SIG-I, delegated this task to the appropriate SIG-I Interagency Group. Reporting on this specific task, consequently, falls to me. Further, I am charged by the Chairman, SIG-I, to have all tasks under way in time that each of them can be commented on in the second of the biannual reports to the President, due on 15 October 1987.

3. I request, therefore, that you forward to the IG/CM(P) Secretariat by 1 September 1987 either a statement of your compliance with the President's commitment (paragraph 2 above) or an appropriate statement concerning implementation plans or inability to comply. Your response should be sent to [redacted] Executive Secretary IG/CM(P), CCISCMO/ICS, Via Room 1225 Ames Bldg., Central Intelligence Agency. Questions concerning this memorandum may be directed to [redacted]

Dear Ms. Blalock:

This letter is to inform you of an executive branch decision that may have applicability to your organization. The President, in responding to P.L. 99-169 in November 1986, forwarded to Congress the President's Report to Congress on the Nation's Counterintelligence and Security Countermeasures Plans, Programs, and Capabilities. The report, designed to inform Congress of efforts to improve the nation's security posture, contains several injunctions that should be applicable throughout the Federal Government.

One area of common applicability involves efforts to improve security awareness and training. On page 18 of the report the President states:

- o Adequacy of security training will be made an item of recurring interest for agency Inspectors General.

Since your organization handles classified material, we believe you may find that the course of action being taken within the executive branch is proper and useful to your organization. For your information, we are reporting biannually on our implementation of the commitments made in the President's report to the National Security Advisor, copies of which will go to the select committees on intelligence in both houses of Congress. The next of the biannual reports will most likely be delivered during the period just prior to Thanksgiving. I suggest that you consider the possible utility of providing a statement on your role in reviewing security training to the two select intelligence committees in the same time frame.
