What is it?

Advertising supplement to the New York Times, Washington Post, Boston Globe, Tampa Tribune, Las Vegas Review Journal

- What are its basic beliefs?
- How does it help the individual?
- How does it help society?

The first principle of my own philosophy is that wisdom is meant for anyone who wishes to reach for it. It is the servant of commoner and king alike and should never be regarded with awe...

The second principle of my own philosophy is that it must be capable of being applied.

Learning locked in mildewed books is of little use to anyone and therefore of no value unless it can be used.

The third principle is that any philosophic knowledge is only valuable if it is true or if it works.

These three principles are so strange to the field of philosophy, that I have given my philosophy a name: SCIENTOLOGY. This means only 'knowing how to know.'

A philosophy can only be a route to knowledge. It cannot be crammed down one's throat. If one has a route, he can then find what is true for him. And that is Scientology."

What is SCIENTOLOGY?

Scientology is a study of knowledge. It is knowledge about why people have the problems that they have, about why people sometimes have trouble communicating with others, about the causes of upsets in life, about the spiritual side of man, and about the things that stop people from using all the abilities that they do have. In short, Scientology covers the very basic knowledge about man and about life that is vital for each person to have if he is to be happy and accomplish those things he sets out to do.

According to Scientology principles, knowledge alone, without application, is not really of much use. In other words, it's not enough to just KNOW something; you must be able to put that data to USE to help yourself and to help others.

For a Scientologist™, the final test of any knowledge he has gained is, "did the data and the use of it in life actually improve conditions or didn't it?"

The application of Scientology principles can improve a person's confidence, intelligence, abilities, and skills — which adds up to a happier and more capable individual. For this reason Scientology courses and texts stress not only that the student KNOWS about Scientology data but also that he can and should APPLY the knowledge gained to improve conditions in his own life and environment.

Scientology technology can enable a person to effectively resolve problems that he could not previously handle. It can restore a person's ability to improve conditions which he may once have considered hopeless.

With Scientology, a person can attain greater personal freedom. Scientology steers the individual out of the problems and seeming restrictions of everyday life, to a point where he can gain higher levels of spiritual freedom.

Is Scientology a religion?

Yes! Scientology is a religion in the truest sense of the word. It is a study of wisdom, a study of life. Based on the fundamental and provable fact that man is a spiritual being, not a body or a name or a brain or anything else, Scientology — like most other major religions — seeks to increase the person's understanding of himself, his fellow man and the world around him. Scientology recognizes that man must be able to communicate with others and to accept and respect them as spiritual beings in order to live harmoniously and to progress together as a group. "Love thy neighbor" is a basic tenet in Scientology just as it is in Buddhism and Christianity. Knowing and applying these tenets to life and its spiritual nature, a person also gains an understanding of the Supreme Being and man's relation to it.

Scientologists recognize that it is the being himself who feels emotions, who thinks thoughts and who directs the motions that his body makes. Man doesn't "have" a spirit — he IS a spiritual being; the spiritual being is in the "driver's seat," so to speak, directing the show and seeking to survive. And Scientologists recognize that the being's ability to direct his own path in life and the quality of his survival can be improved.

The Scientology religion, like all other religions, holds that the spirit lives on after death.

Protestantism, Buddhism, Judaism, Catholicism — and Scientology — all have in common the idea of the road to salvation. In Scientology, salvation is through the work of the individual himself. The abilities and potentials of the individual as a spiritual being are stressed in Scientology.

That sins cause future hardship in this life and in eternity, and prevent salvation, is a common denominator of many religions, including Scientology. Helping the individual to realize this and get onto the right path is a common approach for all religions. Scientology offers an exact path that can be followed in man's search for salvation.

The Church of Scientology is non-denominational. One can be a Scientologist and also a member of any other religious group. There are Catholics, Protestants, members of the Jewish faith and most any other religion who are also active as Scientologists.

The Church of Scientology's purpose is to help the individual lead a happier life, and so there is nothing in Scientology principles to conflict with other religious beliefs.

Scientology ministers perform marriages, funerals and naming ceremonies much as leaders in other faiths do. Sunday services are held in Scientology churches each week and these are open to the public.

What does Scientology do for the individual?

In studying Scientology religious philosophy, one learns the basics of life and finds out more about himself. Scientology does not try to "change people" but gives the individual the understanding of himself and his environment and the wherewithal to bring about improved conditions on his own determinism.

Through a better understanding of life and of man as a spiritual being, the individual becomes more aware of his own basic capabilities and is able to improve himself and be more at cause over his environment.

In order to improve understanding of oneself and of others, one must be able to easily communicate. This applies to any two-way communication, be it to one's family and loved ones, to business and sports associates, or to the man on the street. Thus one of the first Scientology basics covered is the subject of COMMUNICATION.

In Scientology, it has been proven that there is a very exact formula for communication which can be broken down into distinct parts. Knowing and applying this exact formula correctly enables the individual to freely communicate with others with certainty that his communication is being correctly duplicated and understood. His ability to receive and duplicate others' communications is equally enhanced.

How many family disagreements have resulted in broken homes stemming from simple misunderstandings or inability of one party to either express or duplicate the other's views? How many international strifes and threats of war have been brought about through an inability of two parties, governments or cultures to communicate with each other?

Yet how simple it is to handle such breaches, to communicate freely with others and to receive communication when the basic fundamentals of the COMMUNICATION FORMULA are known and applied.

One also learns the theory of what a problem is and how to become cause over a problem rather than the effect of one.

Scientologists learn how to become honest and truthful to themselves and to others and how to lead a more honest and productive life.

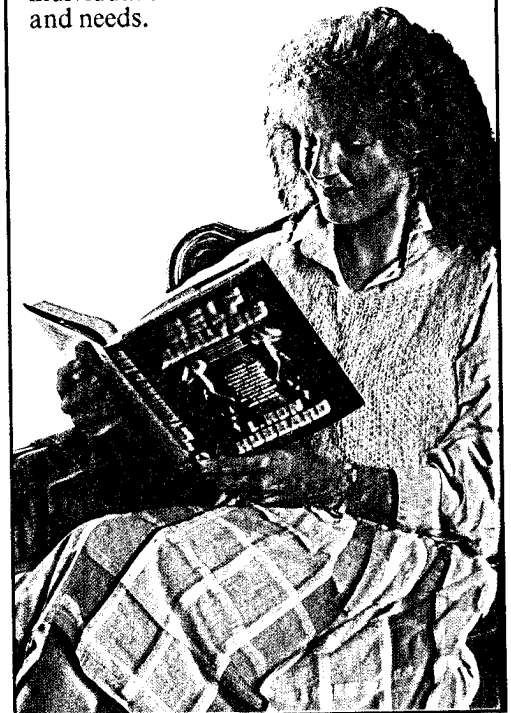

In the many, many written works of Mr. Hubbard, there can be found hundreds of thousands of axiomatic truths and workable data that enable the individual to find out more and more about himself, his capabilities, his relationship to others and how to apply this valuable data to life and livingness in order to improve conditions and relationships.

How do people become Scientologists?

Most often, the first thing a person new to the subject does is read a Dianetics or Scientology book by the Founder of Scientology, L. Ron Hubbard. [Dianetics™ spiritual healing technology is the forerunner of Scientology and deals with the human mind — what it is and how it works]. He finds out about the subject for himself, at his own pace, and is free to compare what he reads to his own observations and experiences.

Then the person usually visits a local Scientology Church where he might attend a free introductory lecture or seminar, or do an introductory course such as one on the basics of communication. One can also go into any Church of Scientology and see a filmed interview with L. Ron Hubbard in which he answers many questions about Scientology philosophy.

When the person has made up his own mind whether to find out more about the subject (or to go his own way), he may then choose to take study courses about the human spirit or he may wish to receive specialized spiritual counseling to enhance his basic capabilities. The many willing staff in a Scientology organization will gladly assist in indicating the books and services available that best fit the individual's interests and needs.

What is Scientology Auditing?

Scientology counseling is called AUDITING. This comes from the Latin word audire which means to listen. In a Scientology auditing session, a trained Scientology practitioner is called an AUDITOR. The auditor assists the individual to find out more about himself by asking him a series of exact questions and then carefully listening to his answers.

A Scientology auditor does not tell a person being audited what he, the auditor, thinks is wrong, or what he thinks is the source of a difficulty. He doesn't advise how a problem or situation should be handled or try to teach the person anything. As one of the purposes of Scientology counseling is to restore a person's self-determinism — his control of his own life — the auditor is there to guide and assist only, using the precise methods in which he is trained and bound by a strict code of professional ethics and conduct.

Scientology auditing is done on a one-to-one basis. It takes up areas of a person's life that he wants to improve, that he is confused about, or that are troubling him. Where the person is already getting on well in life, Scientology counseling is used to assist him to IMPROVE his understanding and abilities. Scientology auditing in the hands of a trained auditor is very precise and very effective. It works.

In the very early research periods preceding Scientology, L. Ron Hubbard discovered that any individual has abilities that he is not fully using and often isn't even fully aware of. He discovered that the individual with these abilities brought to light, strengthened and put to work, could find himself more at cause over and in command of situations that before had seemed to be blocking the achievement of his own goals and purposes in life.

In discovering the reasons why many dormant abilities aren't even realized by the being or even fully used by an individual, Mr. Hubbard was also able to develop precise counseling methods that could assist the person to become aware of this condition and enable him to improve his condition, regaining the abilities he thought he had lost or perhaps never had before.

With Scientology auditing, the individual finds out more about himself (and about others) and is in a position to be able to live a much happier, more productive and fuller life.

A great deal of informal counseling is also done by Scientologists in the community whenever and wherever their help is needed. One of the traditional roles of religion is to improve the quality of life through community involvement and action.

Scientologists retain that missionary spirit, and are effectively dealing with community problems such as drug and alcohol abuse, delinquency, crime and violence, marital and family problems. Further details on the community work that Scientologists are involved in are covered in the following pages.

What does Scientology philosophy do for our society?

Scientologists are actively and energetically working to improve our society. They have established a growing and impressive record of bettering conditions in areas such as:

Education

In today's fast-paced world, success often depends on one's ability to rapidly read, understand and APPLY written texts. Yet many of us have never really learned how to study. Surveys show that children in schools today are not being taught how to study. College entrance test scores are declining year after year; illiteracy is on the rise.

L. Ron Hubbard has spent many years researching the subject of study — seeking to discover the various barriers to study: why a student gives up a subject or becomes confused or disinterested, why a student gets bored or tired while studying, why a student can't apply his materials, what inhibits comprehension, etc. The effective study methods developed by Mr. Hubbard are now used by hundreds of thousands of people all over the world. Basic study courses are taught in every Scientology Church as one of the first steps to enable the new student to easily study and duplicate the materials and to apply what he has learned.

These same study methods have also been introduced into various public and private schools, government programs and in businesses (from local family enterprises to major auto manufacturers) with impressive results.

Education Alive and Applied Scholastics are two organizations that use Mr. Hubbard's discoveries to rehabilitate students and revitalize entire educational systems throughout the world. These organizations and others in the U.S., Germany, Denmark, France, Sweden, England, Canada, Mexico, Australia, Africa and China offer seminars to parents and students in Mr. Hubbard's methods, tutoring in basic courses and training to teachers and to businesses. In China, for example, L. Ron Hubbard's study technology has been introduced in two universities, and the program has been so successful that educational authorities are expanding it to the entire country. At a South African university, a course in Hubbard study technology is an elective part of the curriculum and has been chosen by hundreds of students as a subject.

One of the biggest barriers Mr. Hubbard found a student encounters in learning a new subject is its nomenclature. The student not only has new principles and methods to learn, but a whole new language as well. Mr. Hubbard took this a step further and found a basic underlying datum: the only reason a person gives up a study or becomes confused or unable to learn is because he or she has gone past a word that was not understood. He discovered that the confusion or inability to grasp the subject comes after a word that the person did not have defined or understood.

The misunderstood word is just one of the simple but extremely powerful discoveries of "barriers to study" in Mr. Hubbard's technology. As the amount of information each of us needs to know in order to get along in today's world mounts, the demand for these simple and effective study methods grows steadily.

What does the Church of Scientology stand for?

As stated in an article by Scientology Founder L. Ron Hubbard:

"A civilization without insanity, without criminals and without war, where the able can prosper and honest beings can have rights, and where Man is free to rise to greater heights, are the aims of Scientology."

"Non-political in nature, Scientology welcomes any individual of any creed, race or nation."

"We seek no revolution. We seek only evolution to higher states of being for the individual and for society."

The Purification Program

"L. Ron Hubbard's study technology gives you tools and lays out a program that makes the subject simple. When I first discovered it, it bridged the gap between study and education and actual performance in life. I had a college degree and could not really perform efficiently or effectively so it was really no education at all. After using L. Ron Hubbard's technology I could then study a subject and then actually do it with results. I was able to go into business for myself when previously this was not even conceived of. It changed my life." [M.D.]

"From my experience working in education, L. Ron Hubbard's study technology was the only technology that I have seen work, especially with children. A 7 year old boy was having continual bed-wetting problems and was pale and withdrawn because he could not read. His mother brought him into the education center. After a few weeks of reading lessons and clearing up the words he did not understand he became well again and the bed-wetting ceased. His reading age and ability shot up and he began to get color back into his face. This is just one of the miracles from using the study technology of L. Ron Hubbard in the area of education." [H.S.]

"I have been a teacher of English at the College of Alameda since 1971 and an instructor in the Peralta District since 1958. In all these years, I have never felt so good about my work nor achieved such consistent academic successes as since I incorporated the Study Technology of L. Ron Hubbard into my classes five years ago...No teacher should enter a classroom without this knowledge." B.P.

A major part of the Church's involvement in handling the drug problem in our society is the "Purification Program" — a religious regimen to assist people in cleansing their bodies of the harmful effects of drug crystals lodged in the fatty tissues of the body.

Some years ago L. Ron Hubbard discovered that when a user takes a drug, minute crystals of the drug can become lodged in the body's fat tissues. At times, these crystals can get released back into the bloodstream and the person can re-experience a drug "trip" or drug related effect, which can impair vision, thought or emotion. Not only drugs, but toxic chemicals, pesticides and other environmental poisons can also be stored in the body and can make one feel dull and lifeless or even bring about illness or physical disabilities. Such drug or toxic residues stored in the body can seriously hamper the individual and act as a barrier to his spiritual improvement in life.

The Purification Program developed by Mr. Hubbard consists of a very successful and precise program of vitamins, exercise and sauna which loosens the stored drug and toxic crystals in the body and then flushes them out. In less than 5 years since the formal establishment of this program, over 36,000 people have been cleansed of drug residues with some astounding results.

With drug use on the upswing and exposure to environmental chemicals and poisons becoming more and more common, this program provides an effective way for individuals to overcome and remove these barriers to health and happiness.

Thousands of documented results of the Purification Program exist on record:

"I feel terrific physically and mentally and am doing well at my job and generally in life."

"I'm able to take on larger responsibilities than previously. I'm in better communication with people in general and don't get irritated by some people as I did before the program."

"My senses have improved with better sight, smell and taste. The whole program was a most worthwhile experience." L.L.

"I cannot believe it!!! My body is energetic, I am no longer dependent on coffee, sugar or ANY other stimulant (I had a terrible problem of physical ups and downs before the program and felt dependent on some type of stimulant). I am much more calm and relaxed, and my whole outlook on life has changed. I am happier than I've ever been. This is the first time in seven years I feel like I can (and I want to) really create my future." A.S.

"Before I started the Purification Program I was tired most of the time. I needed a lot of sleep and my body was always out of tune. Now, after the Purification Program, I always feel energetic. I get up earlier and I am always rested. My body just feels great...I can work a lot and I don't get tired. It feels fantastic. Not only does my body feel great but I have increased my certainty and am able to SEE. It's amazing how alive I feel..." C.D.

Drug Rehabilitation

Scientologists are helping solve the problems of drug abuse and addiction. The Church's drug rehabilitation programs were first developed for use by Scientologists in counseling to overcome the harmful after-effects of both medicinal and street drugs. But the methods used have proven so effective over the years that they have been adopted by many drug rehabilitation groups around the world in more than 11 countries. Some of these groups are now government supported.

One of these, the Narconon® drug rehabilitation group, has had so much success that it is now recognized as one of the most effective drug rehabilitation programs in the world. Narconon is the world's only international network of non-medical, drug rehabilitation centers, and has successfully delivered drug education and rehabilitation programs to over 150,000 students, parents and professionals in the United States alone.

Scientologists are against the use of drugs. They recognize that drugs are harmful to the body, inhibit perception, lead to a deterioration of the freedom of the individual and are a primary barrier to spiritual betterment.

In today's society, where drug use is on an alarming upswing, this is an encouraging counter-trend.

Many thousands of documented successes exist on file.

"In 1971 my dependence on drugs included marijuana, amphetamines, barbituates, LSD, peyote, cocaine, heroin. My brother was even more heavily into drugs and between the two of us we were busted 12 times from the ages of 14 to 21. Our parents, who owned a business, spent thousands of dollars on lawyers, private schools, and various drug programs. Then I found the Church of Scientology. I realized how wrong I had been to promote drugs. I stopped dealing, got off drugs and was able to get my brother off drugs and out of the California Youth Authority prison.

"Today we're both stable and successful — I am the author of a book about drugs, my brother is a contractor, we both are happily married with children of our own. And our family is again very close. Scientology philosophy not only saved my life, it saved my whole family." — a former drug user.

Nicki Hopkins, renowned rock pianist (who has played with such groups as The Who, The Rolling Stones, The Beatles and many others) has sincerely acknowledged and encouraged others to participate in Scientology-oriented drug rehabilitation programs. After being freed of a serious drug addiction, he wrote:

"There was a period of many years — just over 10 years that would have been better spent not pursuing drugs. With me it reached the point where I think I had about 2 months to live. That was it. I went through a drug rehabilitation program based on materials researched and discovered by L. Ron Hubbard...one of the biggest breakthroughs ever for mankind. Things got a lot clearer after that. My thinking, my music...I believe that if everyone did it we would have a civilization of clear-headed able beings."

Criminal Rehabilitation

For many years, the Church has been involved in programs to rehabilitate criminals. In a field with a high rate of failure, Scientologists have achieved remarkable results.

Many prisons have Scientology books in their libraries and prisoners have formed Scientology groups to help them find out about themselves and change conditions for the better. Greg Williams, head of a Scientology group at Florida's Baker Correctional Institute, writes, "I always knew there was more to life, but I could never figure out what. Now that I do know what's been blinding me, I am enjoying showing others the same road."

Wherever you find efforts to create a safer, saner society, you will likely meet Scientologists. In Los Angeles, several Scientologists are currently involved in projects with youth gang and juvenile rehabilitation centers. Gang members cleaned graffiti off 130 buildings and received an acknowledgement from the Mayor. Other Scientologists are involved in projects to clean up parks, reduce violence and crime, improve care for the elderly and for mental patients, and many other activities.

Marion Frauen of Milwaukee writes, "At the Ethan Allen School for Boys in Milwaukee, using the ideas of Scientology philosophy in my work I am able to inspire some hope and help people to believe in themselves and to encourage them that they can control their lives."

Scientologists, through involvement in programs like these, are committed to improving the quality of life and creating a better society.

How large is the Church of Scientology and how rapidly is it expanding?

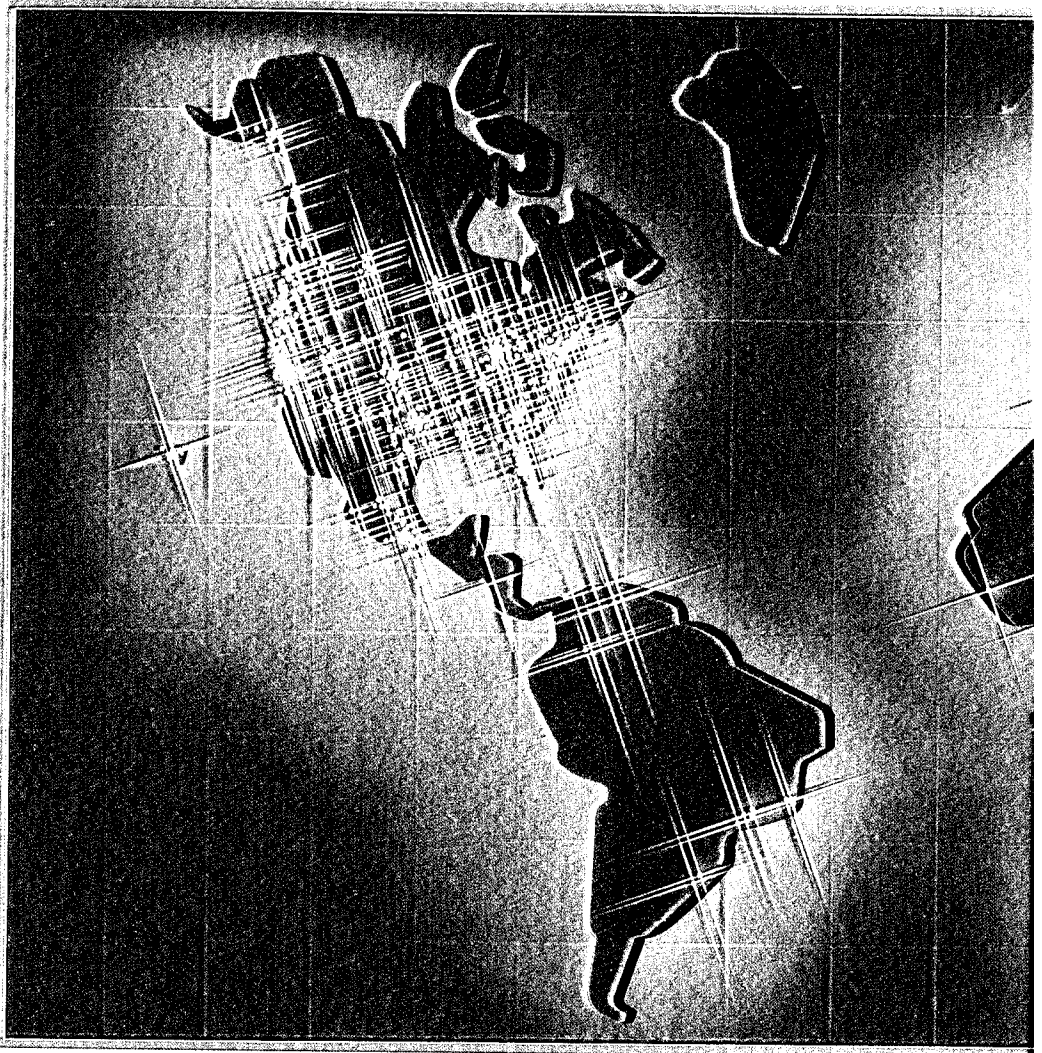

In just over 30 years, the Church of Scientology has grown from one Church registered in the state of California to more than 600 churches, missions and groups in more than 30 countries around the globe.

Due to the increased demand for Scientology services throughout the world, more than 60 new churches and over 130 new missions — in just the past 5 years alone — have opened their doors to assist their communities. The number of Church staff has also increased to better serve parishioners — a 13% increase over the last 12 months.

In the average week, several thousand new people start their first Scientology service. The number of active Scientology memberships in 1984 increased by 40.2% over the 1983 total.

The Church of Scientology is expanding rapidly and will continue to do so throughout the world in response to the ever-growing demand for its services. This expansion is a direct reflection of the workability of its religious philosophy in improving conditions in the world.

Chick Corea, a Scientologist since 1968, acclaimed as the top jazz pianist/keyboardist in the world: "I've always loved to make music for others to enjoy — but have basically made my own way through the years — like a wanderer. One reason for this wandering is that I thought for a long time that the freedom I was seeking was a wholly personal thing — a personal activity.

"Meeting up with Dianetics and Scientology technology in '68 began to change that idea for me. I began to see that the environment and life itself is made by many — and so the resultant quality of life is a sum of the efforts of all living as a group. And the goal to be an active part of this group began to be awakened in me. I began to think that maybe the attainment of freedom was a group activity.

"Now, there have been groups through the ages with the purpose to help others be free. But, although man has made certain technological progress, in humanistic and moral terms, we're still pretty far from the ideal.

"Then along comes L. Ron Hubbard. He pointed out the exact construction of the trap — the mechanisms and phenomena that trap us and keep us blind. Then he developed and refined the exact step-by-step route out — with auditing, with training, with the basics of how to study, with the basics of how to recognize and handle suppression, and with the basics of how to organize and grow and become strong as a group.

"I feel he's awakened a purpose not only to be free ourselves but also to help others be free. I know that Scientology has the potential to, and is creating a new civilization. That's why I'm aboard. The inspiration for my music has always been the dream of a better life. That's why I'm a Scientologist."

Ken Gerbino, an investments counselor:

"I have found that Dianetics and Scientology spiritual counseling have noticeably increased my ability to learn. In my business, I must do extensive reading and research, and I am now able to absorb and understand a much higher volume of such material. This ability has been invaluable to me.

"Dianetics and Scientology counseling has tremendously raised my emotional and energy levels. I have become much happier and find my respect for others has increased. My energy level has risen to the point where I started my own business and have become revitalized as a writer and financial lecturer.

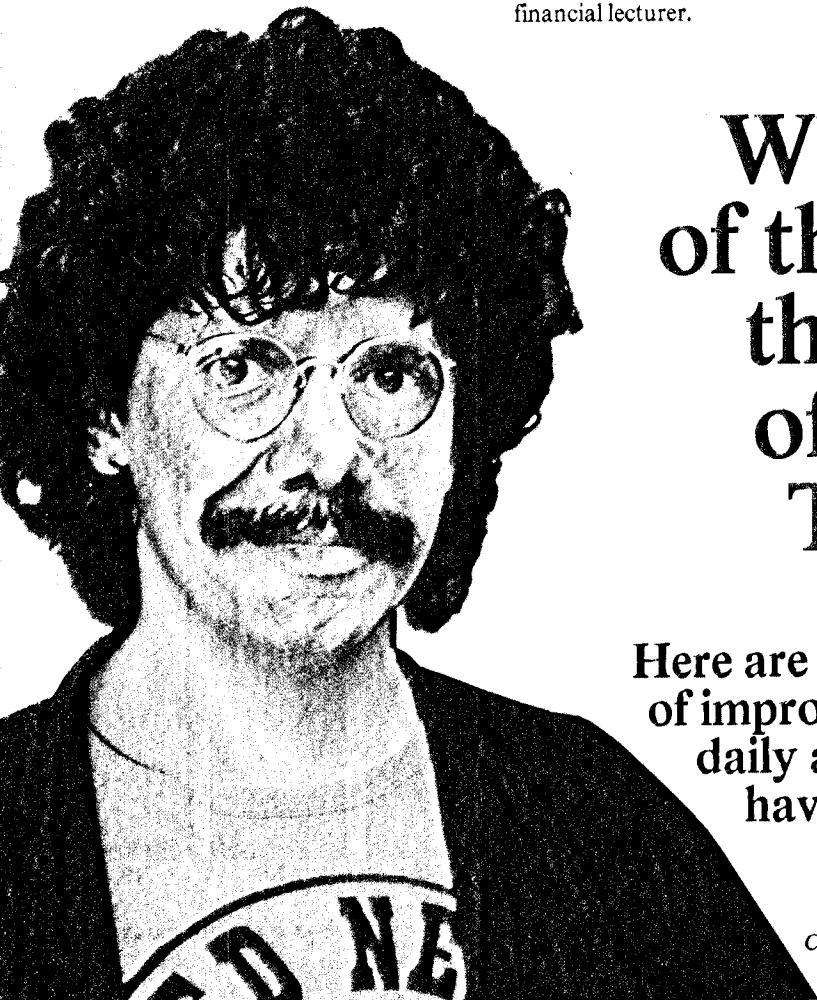

"Probably the most amazing thing which has happened to me was the fact of a 20% increase in my I.Q. I might add that I have noticed hundreds of other Scientology parishioners who have achieved similar gains."

A businessman:

"I am the senior vice president of a brokerage firm, one of the top fifty producers of the firm. People are always asking me why I am so successful, and where I get the ability to handle things so well. My co-workers know it is because of Dianetics and Scientology technology. I got into this business in 1980 and the first year in business, I was in the top 200 in the firm, the 2nd year the top 100, the 3rd year the top 50. Every time I have Scientology counseling, my statistics rise."

A medical doctor:

"My ability is increasing all the time and, of course, I am happier than I have ever been before in my life. It is my ever-present ambition to go as far as possible with Scientology training. I have become uninterested in spending all my life trying to achieve with pills and drugs things which cannot be achieved with such things. I feel that we are in the first wave of this great adventure which is gathering momentum and will ultimately be used all over the world as a matter of course."

What are some of the results from the application of Scientology Technology?

Here are but a few of the many thousands of improvements and successes reported daily around the world by people who have received Scientology training and counseling.

Chick Corea

Karen Black

Karen Black, famous Hollywood film star:

“One of the things that Scientology counseling does is expand your attention in present time...as a result of knowing yourself and becoming more free, any art form you are into also frees up. Artistic impulses are very generous and spontaneous things, and they just keep getting more so because they didn't have those restrictions on them.”

An author:

“From the time of my first counseling in 1958 I've been utterly convinced that nothing else works even remotely as well or swiftly as Scientology counseling.”

“Only Scientology philosophy offers a deep and responsible change. As to some of the change I've made, I feel a thousand times freer — and for a writer, let alone any human being, what could be better?”

Amanda Ambrose, singer, actress, mother of five:

“In 1968 I was introduced to Scientology and since then, I have had many hours of Dianetics and Scientology counseling. I found the most significant change is that I am no longer afraid of anything. Before, I had observed how some 'successful' people led their lives and I was afraid of having a life like theirs. I did not want to become an alcoholic or druggie in order to be successful.”

“Because of counseling, I no longer have those fears. I am more able to mentally and physically make my dreams come true. I know I can achieve anything I want to without compromising my reality.”

Amanda Ambrose

Actor/director Robert F. Lyons:

“As a new actor, I had problems in understanding some of the acting training I was involved with. I later found that Scientology technology expanded my understanding and application of these techniques. In addition, I found new ways to study and probe human relationships, human behaviour, and the mind — all of this is needed material for a serious actor. Thus I have been able to have more fun!”

“Art, a subject little understood, is one that L. Ron Hubbard has written about and it is available for those who are involved. It will straighten out so much confusion for any concerned artist, any artist who really wants his art to take off or arrive at heights that are possibly greater than one could imagine. The key point here, is that it is available, that the subject (ART) has been tackled and put into a wonderful readable form and will enhance any area of art that exists, because it deals with the true basics of the subject itself.”

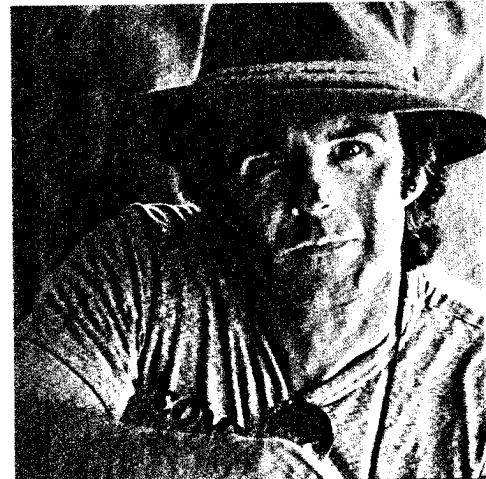

“My deepest appreciation to L. Ron Hubbard for his invaluable discoveries and his willingness to pass them on for other artists to expand their art as well.”

A wife and mother:

“Some years ago I was on the verge of walking out of my marriage. This would have been the worst mistake I could have made, as I have a terrific husband and I knew it even then. Yet, I had this urge to get out of that marriage. Then I had some Scientology counseling. The result of that is that I fell in love with my husband and have since created the happiest marriage imaginable. Now we have a beautiful baby.”

An attorney:

“Just ten hours of counseling gave me permanent relief from a lifelong depression. I have since counseled others and they've had excellent improvements in their lives.”

Robert F. Lyons

Sonny Bono wrote this poem after receiving Scientology auditing:

The Life Inside Me

I'm on the first step to the stairway to infinity and I'm lost to the multitude of that I cannot see and now I feel the force of something new surrounding me.
The fear is not so great as the hope impounding me.
The ground I stand on shakes my soul in its ferocity and boulders big as buildings fly but none is touching me an unknown faith I've never seen keeps on indulging me and so I walk this untouched space as the new appears to me and now I know if I survive that it is up to me.

What are Scientologists like?

A Scientologist is just like any other person in this world. However, through becoming more aware of himself and others and having a working knowledge of life and livingness, morals and ideals, a Scientologist is known for being honest and truthful, kind, courteous and considerate of others.

You can find Scientologists in every walk of life. There are Scientologists who are doctors, business executives, entertainers, artists, airline pilots, political leaders, housewives, football players, blue collar workers — Scientologists can be found in almost any profession or way of life you might name.

If you were to ask a Scientologist what he advocates, you would get varied answers, with certain viewpoints held in common. Scientologists do not advocate the use of drugs, have a high interest in helping themselves, their families and associates improve, and are in favor of improving their environment. A Scientologist has been defined as: "Someone who can better conditions. A Scientologist, then, is essentially one who better the conditions of himself and the conditions of others by using Scientology technology."

Scientologists are dependable workers and executives and have a great ability to enjoy their individual lifestyles. Above all, they advocate freedom for the individual to pursue a better life for himself, his family, his group and mankind.

What role does the Church of Scientology play in social reform?

Social injustice and human suffering has traditionally been a concern of religions. The Church of Scientology has eagerly carried more than its share because its codes include the responsibility that an individual and a group has to help create a freer society for all.

In that role, the Church has for nearly twenty years investigated and exposed political and governmental "dirty tricks," crime, psychiatric abuses and other forms of oppression and violation of individuals' civil rights. Wherever possible, the Church has also helped to handle the abuses found through Congressional testimony and legislative reform.

This is a list of just a few of the abuses which the Church of Scientology has investigated and is actively seeking to reform:

- The harmful effects of such controversial psychiatric treatments as electro-convulsive "therapy," forced drugging of mental patients and psychosurgery.
- The enslavement of thousands of South African Blacks in "mental hospitals" which were actually labor farms for large industries employing shock treatments to enforce obedience.

- Psychiatric abuses and deaths in mental hospitals.
- FBI/Nazi connections; FBI abuses and illegalities.
- Interpol — its Nazi background, abuses and unauthorized use of confidential information.
- Illicit CIA activities including mind control experiments and biological warfare experiments. The Church exposed biological warfare experiments performed on unwitting human subjects in New York, Florida, Pennsylvania and other areas.
- The Church has exposed 1964 U.S. Army experiments in which passengers at crowded airports and bus terminals in major U.S. cities were secretly sprayed with infectious bacteria.
- Most recently, the Church has made public an IRS manual on how the agency views and treats certain taxpayers. The manual was received anonymously by the Church in answer to a newspaper advertisement seeking evidence on IRS abuses and underhanded activities. The IRS had refused to produce the manual through the Freedom of Information Act, claiming it was for internal IRS administrative use only. Yet the manual dictated how it singles out various U.S. citizens and groups for indiscriminate automatic audits.

These and other abuses of power are the concern of every free-thinking person. True freedom requires constant vigilance and a willingness to stand up for what one's rights and beliefs are. Thus Scientologists are working to create a world where honesty, responsibility and respect for human life and dignity are valued and supported; and a world where men of goodwill work together to expose and stall the efforts of the few who abuse their rights and powers against the well-being of mankind.

Scientologists Question U.S. Involvement in Interpol

Suppose there were a private organization which had access to the secret files of most governments in the world. With no checks on its operations, it could gather information on individuals within a pol's representations, its Nazi affiliations not been severed at the end of the war. Church of Scientology researchers discovered that Paul Dickopf, president of Interpol from 1968 to 1972, was an SS officer in World War II. The researchers provided including Dickopf and a photo to U.S. Congress Interpol in

Army Germ Testing Used D.C. Airport

By DANIEL F. GILMORE

WASHINGTON — Army agents secretly sprayed passengers at Washington's National Airport and a city bus terminal with bacteria to test how a smallpox epidemic might be started by enemy forces, documents made public Monday reveal.

The experiments, which may have also included bus terminals in Chicago and San Francisco, were carried out in 1964 and 1965, according to a heavily censored document released to the Church of Scientology under the Freedom of Information Act.

Army Special Operations agents used aerosol-like blowers concealed in specially built suitcases to spray the bacteria, bacillus subtilis.

The bacteria is hazardous according to the documents.

The Washington experiments are similar to some of the biological-warfare experiments the Army years ago conducted.

The Church of Scientology has forwarded its findings to Sen. Sasser, D-Tenn., and questions about the experiments in Utah. Ground in Utah, against chemical warfare are studied.

Last month, Caspar Weinberger, Sen. Sasser's States does not logical or toxic ment activities

by Andy Lenarcic

INSIDE:

L. Ron Hubbard

Who is L. Ron Hubbard?

L. Ron Hubbard is the founder of Scientology. Born on March 13, 1911, and raised in Montana, he traveled extensively throughout the Far East as a youth. He kept journals of his voyages, observations and ideas as he explored and studied culture and religious philosophy in China, the Philippines, Japan and Guam.

Mr Hubbard quickly found that after 10,000 years of Far Eastern "enlightenment," people were still destitute. The lesson was that such wisdom was useless when it disregarded the basic, everyday needs of the individual, family and group.

Returning to the United States, Mr. Hubbard attended the first classes in sub-molecular phenomena (later to be called "atomic physics") while a student at George Washington University in Washington, D.C. Western man was seeking to understand the atom but, like the Eastern scholar, he had failed to address and solve the most basic problem of all — himself.

In 1938, Mr. Hubbard isolated the basic drive that motivates the individual — he is seeking to SURVIVE. This discovery provided the springboard for his research into what interfered with the survival — and thus the happiness — of the basic individual.

To pay for his travels and research, Mr. Hubbard was writing fiction. World War II, in which he served, briefly interrupted his writings, but the war's anti-survival conflicts provided him with the final pieces to the puzzle. In 1950 his findings were codified with the publication of DIANETICS: THE MODERN SCIENCE OF MENTAL HEALTH. Two years later in Arizona, Mr. Hubbard bridged the spiritual nature of the East and the materialistic nature of the West and announced it in THE PHOENIX LECTURES. Scientology religious philosophy was born.

In 1954, a group of his students formed the first Church of Scientology and Mr. Hubbard agreed to be its Executive Director. As he did not found the Church, he was later given the title of "Founder" of the philosophy.

Before resigning as the Executive Director in 1966, and turning over all management control of the Church to a team of trusted executives, Mr. Hubbard devoted much of his time to intensive researches on spiritual improvement — he has published all told nearly 600 titles and given more than 3000 lectures on Dianetics and Scientology alone. These materials form the basis of the many Scientology courses and studies today. His works deal with the importance of the family and children, how to be happy, the nature of communication, teaching and learning, memory, how to regain lost abilities, how to solve problems, how to overcome the effects of drugs, the value of work in society and the nature of religion itself. He has also explored the origins and functions of time, space, energy, matter, knowledge, logic, art, perception and reality itself.

Today, over 23 million copies of Mr. Hubbard's Dianetics and Scientology books have been sold making him one of the most influential writers of the 20th Century. His DIANETICS: THE MODERN SCIENCE OF MENTAL HEALTH has sold more than seven million copies in eleven languages and continues to be a bestseller year after year.

Mr. Hubbard is also an accomplished photographer, horticulturist, musician and mariner and still continues his religious researches while traveling, writing and composing musical scores and lyrics.

"I like to help others and count it as my greatest pleasure in life to see a person free himself of the shadows that darken his days.

"These shadows look so thick to him, and weigh him down so, that when he finds they are shadows and that he can see through them and be in the sun again, he is enormously delighted. And I am afraid I am just as delighted as he is."

Is there such a thing as a hotline that DOESN'T believe in giving advice? What about a hotline for the able individual to help him solve his OWN problems?

"If we take a man and keep giving him advice," L. Ron Hubbard has said, "we don't necessarily wind up with a resolution of his problems."

"But if, on the other hand, we put him in a position where he had higher intelligence, where his reaction time was better, where he could confront life better, where he could identify the factors in his life more easily, then he's in a position where he can solve his own problems."

1-800-FOR TRUTH is a unique new hotline and referral service with operators trained in Dianetics and Scientology technology. Callers find someone they can trust to talk to about a problem, and they are referred to their nearest Dianetics center for more information if they are interested.
