Dear Mr. Bozell:

Thank you for your kind invitation to speak at the National Defense Briefing sponsored by the National Conservative Foundation (NCF) in Washington, D.C. Tuesday, September 22nd. Unfortunately, I have a conflict in my schedule and will be unable to accept the honor of speaking on this most important topic.

I do hope, however, that you will express my good wishes to your council members and have a successful meeting.

Sincerely yours,

/s/ William H. Webster

Speech Invitation
National Conservative Foundation
Washington, D.C.
22 September 1987

Executive Director of the National Conservative Foundation (NCF) Brent Bozell has invited you to participate in an off-the-record National Defense Briefing in Washington, D.C. on Tuesday, September 22nd. You have been asked to address the group on "Who are the Terrorists? Profiles on Khaddafi, Assad, Khomeni, and Arafat." The proposed format is 15 minutes of remarks followed by 10 minutes of Questions and Answers. An audience of approximately 100 council members who are prominent businessmen from around the country including a select group of defense contractors will be present. Since the meeting is off-the-record, the media would not attend. According to the NCF staff, foreign nationals would not be in the audience. Previous speakers have been Secretary Weinberger, General James Abrahamson, and Richard Armitage. The Secretary's office confirmed his prior participation, but was unaware of an invitation to speak this year as was mentioned in the letter. (See opposite for proposed agenda and list of council members.)

The NCF has a membership of 9000 and is a conservative education and research organization. The Encyclopedia of Organizations states that the foundation "promotes media fairness in an attempt to expose what the foundation calls the liberal domination of the media, and serves as a clearing house on how to run a successful campaign." According to TELEVISION DIGEST, INC., the NCF demanded that PBS broadcast a pro-contra program to balance "pro-Sandinista views". Recently, NCF called for a boycott of station WTBS describing its programming response to ABC's Amerika as "pro-communist." Executive Director Brent Bozell is also president of the National Conservative Political Action Committee (NCPAC). Both organizations are considered pro-administration. Last year the NCF and the NCPAC announced a $2 million "Presidential Support Project" that included both mass mailings and television advertisements.

I believe that you should decline this invitation. According to your schedule, you will just be returning from overseas on September 21st. Also, I believe that this is too politically partisan a group for you to address in your position as DCI. A letter of regret is attached for your signature.

Judge William J. Webster, Director

Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Judge Webster:

On Tuesday, September 22, 1987 the National Conservative Foundation will sponsor a high-level, off-the-record National Defense Briefing in Washington, D. C. to focus attention on this nation's efforts to build a strong defense program, with special emphasis on terrorism and the anti-communist Freedom Fighters around the world.

We will bring together top conservative business leaders and defense contractors with the top spokesmen of this Administration and the Congress to discuss what steps our government needs to take in order to strengthen the defenses of this nation and the Free World.

I am inviting Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger, Former U. N. Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick, and leaders of the Senate and House to speak at this conference, and have already requested a White House Briefing on this important topic.

I now formally invite you to participate as well. One of the subjects this conference will deal with is Who are the Terrorists? Profiles on Khaddafi, Assad, Khomeini, Arafat and it would be an honor to have you address our group on this issue.

NCF's Briefing Coordinator, Jane Batory will be contacting your office next week for your response and will explain the day in more detail. In the meantime, should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to have your office call Jane Batory or me at 548-0900.

REFERENCE

Our nations's defense practices have become a major issue for the American people, especially with the recent developments in Libya and Nicaragua. We are anticipating that this conference will help launch a grassroots counterattack on critics that demand this Administration lower defense spending and turn our backs on those fighting for Democracy while appeasing the Russians at the expense of our nation's security.

I hope you agree that this issue is one the American public needs to become better informed on and will reply favorably to my request.

Sincerely,

The campaign announced Tuesday, similar to one launched last week by the Citizens for America, is a project of two well-known conservative groups, National Conservative Political Action Committee, known as NCPAC, and the non-profit National Conservative Foundation.

A spokesman for the groups, both headed by conservative fund-raiser Terry Dolan, said the groups will spend $1 million each to run TV ads and send out mass mailings asking people to express support for Reagan.

Bozell said the national campaign is intended to "raise a national uproar against the liberal lynch mob that has tried to hang President Reagan since he took office in 1980." Last week, Citizens for America, a conservative foundation which supports President Reagan's views, announced that it was airing TV ads urging loyalty to Reagan and asking viewers to "stand with him when we need him most." The National Conservative Foundation will run commercials telling viewers to call the TV networks and complain about news coverage critical of the president, while NCPAC will mail letters to its thousands of contributors urging them to call their congressmen and denounce "the kangaroo courts now in Congress," Bozell said.

Bozell accused the media of one-sided negative reporting in the wake of the Nov. 25 announcement by Attorney General Edwin Meese III that ...

Bozell said NCPAC and the National Conservative Foundation have received no such money and would not take any.

At a news conference, Mr. Bozell said his project would include mass mailings and television commercials, and would urge the public to protest to the news media and members of Congress about treatment of the Iran dealings.

Mr. Bozell contended that Mr. Reagan's old opponents were trying to use the issue to destroy him.
