JUDGE:

RE: Speaking Invitations
Louisiana State Bar Association Annual Convention 4-5 May
And Joint Judicial Conference of Fifth & Eleventh Circuits
New Orleans, Louisiana, 7 May 1989

President of the Louisiana State Bar Association Wood Brown, III has invited you to address one of the sessions of the Bar Association's 1989 Annual Convention in New Orleans either 4 or 5 May 1989.

In addition, Fifth Circuit Judge Alvin B. Rubin has invited you to extend your visit in New Orleans and to address the Joint Judicial Conference of the Fifth and Eleventh Circuits on 7 May. He has indicated that Judge Eugene Davis and Judge Gerald Tjoflat, who are Program Chairmen for the Conference, have asked him to extend the invitation to you. Judge Tjoflat is also participating in the Eighth Circuit Conference in St. Louis.

Since it is too far in the future to make a commitment, I recommend that you decline both of these invitations. If you agree, two letters of regret are attached for your signature.

Dear Mr. Brown:

Thank you so much for your invitation to speak at the Louisiana State Bar Association's Annual Convention in New Orleans on the 4th or 5th of May, 1989. It was kind of you to think of me, and kind of Judge Rubin to urge me to accept. I would greatly enjoy a visit to New Orleans and to see old friends there. Unfortunately, it is too far in advance for me to make a definite commitment, and rather than hold you up, I think it best for me to decline so that you can invite another speaker.

Best wishes for a most successful convention.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Alvin:

I appreciate your urging me to accept Wood Brown's invitation to address the Louisiana State Bar Association Convention next May 4th or 5th, and inviting me to address the Joint Judicial Conference of the Fifth and Eleventh Circuits on May 7th. I would be delighted to see you and other old friends in New Orleans. However, this is too far in advance to make a commitment for that period of time, and it seems the better part of wisdom for me to withdraw so that you can locate another appropriate speaker.

Please relay my best wishes to both Judge Eugene Davis and Judge Gerald Tjoflat.

With warmest regards,

Sincerely yours,

Dear Judge Webster:

The Louisiana State Bar Association will have its 1989 Annual Convention in New Orleans, Louisiana on May 3-6, 1989. We would like very much to have you to speak at one of the sessions of the convention on either the Thursday, May 4, or Friday, May 5. I take this means to extend you an invitation to speak at the convention.

One of my partners, Harold B. Carter, was present at the Arkansas State Bar Association Convention on June 10, 1988 and heard you speak and he tells me that the talk was worthwhile listening to.

In order to make it more tempting for you to come, I am advised that the conference of the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in conjunction with the conference of the Eleventh Circuit Court of Appeal will be held in New Orleans beginning on May 7, 1989 and running through May 10. In addition, I am pleased to advise that the New Orleans Jazz and Heritage Festival, an annual event which is well received in this community, will be going on that week and will be available.

I am writing early because I suspect that your calendar for such events is very congested and I would like to be sure that you are aware of this invitation as soon as possible.

With best regards, I am

Yours very truly,

Wood Brown, III

Dear Bill:

My good friend, Wood Brown, who is President of the Louisiana State Bar Association, has asked me to join him in urging you to accept the invitation contained in the attached letter to speak at the Louisiana State Bar Association Annual Convention in New Orleans on either May 4, or 5, 1989, at a time convenient to you. That is a delightful time to be in New Orleans for the weather is usually clement and, as you know from Wood's letter, the celebrated Jazz Festival will be in session. Moreover, it will give some of your (literally) old friends (including me) a chance to visit with you.

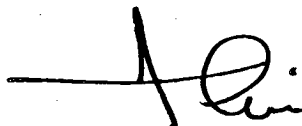

Indeed, let me go beyond that. If you choose to speak at the State Bar Convention, you might enjoy spending the weekend in New Orleans and staying over to address the Joint Judicial Conference of the Fifth and Eleventh Circuits on Monday, May 7. Judge Eugene Davis, who is, together with Judge Gerald Tjoflat, Chairman of the Program Committees for the combined Fifth and Eleventh Circuit Conference has asked me to ask you to stretch your visit out for this purpose. The Conference will be historic: It will be the first "reunion" of the Fifth and Eleventh Circuits. Approximately 200 Article III federal judges, and a host of other judicial officials, lawyer delegates, and national and local bar officials will be present swelling the total attendance to more than 1000. The Conference will be at the InterContinental Hotel, where Janice and I usually stay, and it is a very pleasant place. Between Friday and Monday, you can prepare your talk, attend the Jazz and Heritage Festival and enjoy a bit of well earned respite.

Needless to say, of course, your hotel bills, travel expenses, and other expenses will be defrayed by the Louisiana State Bar Association and, if you accept the other invitation, by the two Circuit Courts--if your position allows you to accept such reimbursement.

Please do try to find time for us. We would be honored, and I am sure you will enjoy it.

With sincerest personal regards,

Very truly yours,
