CONGRESSIONAL RECORD - HOUSE

H 7018

The CHAIRMAN: Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio?

There was no objection.

(Mr. STOKES asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. STOKES. Mr. Chairman, recently, the New York Times published an article by Seymour Hersh which alleged a significant intelligence exchange between the United States and the Government of South Africa. In particular, Mr. Hersh charged that the United States provides information concerning the African National Congress and other South African opposition groups to the Government of South Africa.

Given the position of the United States Government concerning South Africa and the strong feeling in this body about the immoral and unsupportable nature of apartheid, I joined other members of the committee in carefully reviewing this article and in fully investigating all of its charges. We spoke with intelligence officials. We demanded and received written responses to our questions about this alleged relationship.

That process led us, I believe, to a reasonably good understanding of the nature of U.S. intelligence activities in question. It also led me to the conviction that it would be important, both because of the allegations in Mr. Hersh's article and because of the deep concern in this House about the United States relationship to South Africa, to offer an amendment which would make clear the acceptable limits of any potential intelligence relationship with South Africa.

The amendment which I offer prohibits intelligence cooperation with the Government of South Africa except for intelligence collection. It also states that it is the policy of the United States not to provide any intelligence information to the Government of South Africa concerning any opposition group or individual. Further, in the event that an exception is promulgated to this policy, or any intelligence information is ever passed, the Director of Central Intelligence must inform the House and Senate Intelligence Committees of this prior to such an event.

Mr. Chairman, this provision is essentially a modification of the Kennedy amendment to the South African sanctions bill passed by the Senate. My understanding is that it was worked out in connection with the Central Intelligence Agency and that, although this administration opposes all legislation on South African sanctions, my modification of the Kennedy amendment is not viewed as prohibiting activities which the United States contemplates entering into.

Mr. Chairman, my judgment, and I believe that of the intelligence community, is that this amendment would not result in the loss of any necessary intelligence, nor would it prevent the United States from acting to forestall the loss of innocent life, which is the only circumstance under which intelligence likely would be provided. What it does do is state clearly for all the world to know that the United States will not side with white South Africa against black South Africa.

It is unfortunate that such a message needs to be sent, but it is clearly one that must be sent, and sent again, until it is finally understood in the councils of white South Africans that apartheid and the system which it supports cannot stand against the inalienable rights of black South Africans to determine their own destiny and to acquire the rights of representation, free passage, and human dignity that are daily denied them in the ghettos of South Africa.

Mr. Chairman, I urge the support of this amendment.

Mr. STUMP. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. STOKES. I yield to my distinguished ranking minority member of the subcommittee, the gentleman from Arizona [Mr. Stump].

Mr. STUMP. Mr. Chairman, while there is some reluctance to this amendment, we have examined it on this side and are willing to accept it.

The CHAIRMAN. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. Stokes].

The amendment was agreed to.

AMENDMENT OFFERED BY MR. STOKES

Mr. STOKES. Mr. Chairman, I offer an amendment.

The Clerk read as follows:

Amendment offered by Mr. STOKES: On page 5, after line 22, insert the following new section:

"RESTRICTION ON INTELLIGENCE AGENCY COOPERATION WITH SOUTH AFRICA

"Sec. 108. No agency or entity of the United States involved in intelligence activities may engage in any form of cooperation, direct or indirect, with the government of South Africa, except activities which are reasonably designed to facilitate the collection of necessary intelligence. It is the policy of the United States that no agency or entity of the United States involved in intelligence activities may provide any intelligence information to the government of South Africa which pertains to a South African internal opposition group, movement, organization, or individual. Any change in such policy, or the provision of intelligence information contrary to such policy, shall be considered a significant anticipated intelligence activity for purposes of Section 501 of the National Security Act of 1947."

Mr. STOKES (during the reading). Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent that the amendment be considered as read and printed in the RECORD.

SECTION 107

Section 107 of the conference report provides that no agency or entity of the United States involved in intelligence activities may engage in any form of cooperation, direct or indirect, with the Government of South Africa, except activities which are reasonably designed to facilitate the collection of necessary intelligence. In addition, Section 107 establishes as the policy of the United States that no U.S. intelligence agency or entity may provide any intelligence information to the Government of South Africa which pertains to a South African internal opposition group, movement, organization, or individual. Finally, Section 107 provides that any change in that policy, or the provision of intelligence information contrary to that policy, shall be considered a significant anticipated intelligence activity for purposes of Section 501 of the National Security Act of 1947. The conferees expect that intelligence information will be provided contrary to that policy only when such information credibly indicates the imminent likelihood of violent action calculated to threaten human life and provision of such information could be expected to contribute to avoidance of that violent action.

Section 107 of the conference report is identical to Section 107 of the House bill. The Senate amendment contained no corresponding provision.
