

PROBLEM #3 Area is near a land/water interface, probably a large body of sparkling blue water. Palm trees, Eucalyptus trees. Area has a southern California feeling to it. Area is mixed residential, small shops and a warehouse. It is an older, but not rundown, part of city. New part of city is further away from water. People are dressed in western clothes, light colored short sleeve shirts, maybe some sport coats without ties. Pace is very leisurely. Most of men in area appear to be ~~an~~ older, perhaps 50's + 60's. There does not seem to be much going on. Men are just going about their business. I do not sense a crisis or any great level of concern here. The main thing concerning people is making a living. There is some traffic moving and mass automobile parked Newer section of city reminds me of Los Angeles in a way. (2)

I do not perceive anything out of the ordinary going on. I kept looking and looking but could not find anything.

Finally I get tanks coming down the sidewalks. I believe that this is AOL caused by my trying so hard for so long to find something
