↳ 1 2 - like a plotus briefing where their weapons / defensive / offensive measures are located

types of weapons
utilization & targets

Main person is wearing civilian clothing.
Briefing person is wearing military uniform and using ~~an indicator~~ to point to indicate location, etc. of weapon systems. Others in room are mixture of military & civilian (military outnumbering).
The person has more oval features than occidental.

I'm getting the impression that some of the ~~weapon systems~~ <sup>systems</sup> have been previously undetected and if discovered will create inter-national repercussions.

SDI

Building is located in a populated Cold War city.
It is of newer construction than those around it, but not outstanding in appearance. It contains communication rooms, operations rooms with a lot of people, a closed (vault-type door) monitoring room and a room very much like a war room, which is being used for briefing. 10 men, mostly military are in this room. The main or most important person is wearing civilian clothing. He is being briefed by a man in a military uniform, who is using maps and <sup>33mm.</sup> slide projections to show location (geographical-Eastern Europe + Middle East) of weapon systems.

The room is circular. If one were in a round chair (which is being used by the main man, he can do a 360° survey of the room. The room is dark + windowless.

~~Also essentially~~ The brief is showing where the weapon systems are located, utilization and possible targets/effects. There is great concern about previously undetected locations becoming known, which could have inter-national repercussions. There are SDI-type weapons.

4 locations E. Europe were concerned about the one's in the Middle East.
 No known connection
 of support.
