SG1B

You are going to be taken back to a site you have visited before, it was described by you as follows --

(No coordinates)

You have described many abstract components of the site. I would feel better if I could match the abstract concepts with more tangible items at the site

You have labelled the admin and airfield even if they are AOC. Let's move to the item that you haven't labelled, the round object.

The nerve center is a recognizable concept but unless you know what it nerve centers you cannot understand the site. Let's move, therefore to the things being directed by this nerve center on the roof of the operations building facing north - look to the west, your left, there are recognizable structures about 200-300 yds away, describe

Paul, I want you to focus on the circular grouping of the relationship this grouping has to the operations building, that done - move ahead in time one year and describe this relationship.

Before you begin your write-up I want to remind you that you are now operating in a one year to the future mode. Before you begin to write you need to return to today.
