SUMMARY

The cocaine is currently located in the West Indies at geographical coordinates 21 50 N / 74 50. The cocaine was transported in the hull, near the shaft of a white and green vessel bearing an American name. The vessel is either of Panamanian registry and flying an American flag or of American registry and flying a Panamanian flag. The name Johnson appears on the registry documents. The concepts of a "famous Andy and flying colors" are associated with the vessel. The vessel is known to the USCG; it has been previously suspected of transporting illegal contraband in the past.
