SUMMARY OF INFORMATION:

There are two structures. One is rectangular shaped and the other is tall and narrow. There is water, trees and something curved. The curved thing makes me think of the curved part of the front of a ship. The colors are blue, black and green. I don't see any people but there are animals. There is a very loud, annoying noise here. It seems to be in the air or coming from the structure, like a "bleep, bleep, bleep. There is a bright, jagged light and a pin point of light. There is something that is "coming to a point", see sketch. There is something that is curved in many places, something shiny and metallic. There is a water sound and a rustling sound. I feel like I'm in a wide open area, but I still don't see any people.

"Moving to 10 AM, 12 April 1985", I can hear a loud noise that hurts my ears. There is a triangle shape. It gives me a really uneasy feeling. There are at least three figures that are moving. They are shorter than a normal person, maybe four feet tall, wearing something black. They are collecting something. I feel like there is a woods nearby and a house. There is a very loud noise, "BOOM". It makes me think of an explosion. There is something round with a blueish-green/black color. It makes me feel queasy, nauseous. There is something grey, like smoke. There is something really bright and red. It is a very bright red color and it is is huge; immense. There is also a very loud noise that's hard to describe, but it is constant.

Two-minute spectacular—the launch of “Columbia” at the John F. Kennedy Space Center on March 22—draws a million awed viewers. After the lift-off, motorists created a five-hour traffic jam, while these boaters ten miles away made an easy getaway. Probably by next November the reusable space shuttle will both take off and land at the center. At the Visitors Center, with its panoply of

FLORIDA

REACHING toward the Caribbean, Florida lies farther south than San Diego. Miami is closer to Havana than to Atlanta. Juan Ponce de León explored the coast in 1513, followed by Spanish colonizers. The United States acquired the peninsula from Spain in 1821 and brought Florida into the Union in 1845.

AREA: 58,664 sq mi (151,939 sq km). The low-lying peninsula, an exposed portion of the broad Florida Shelf, separates the Atlantic and the Gulf. To make the swampy southern third of Florida more habitable, the state in 1905 approved the dredging of canals from Lake Okeechobee. A falling water table led to saltwater intrusion, and systems supplies for what is now one of the fastest growing states in the nation.

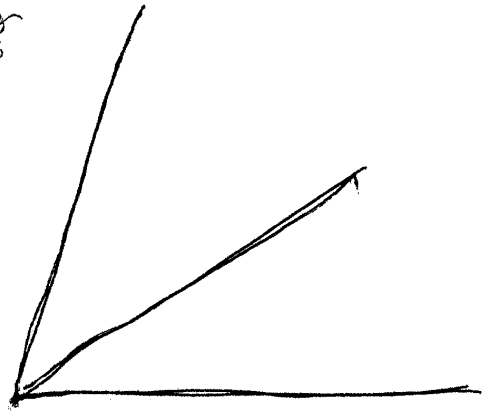

POPULATION: 10,000,000, about 85 percent in coastal counties, with the population boom moving north. New residents arrive at the rate of 4,000 a week.

CLIMATE: Subtropical, moderated by the Gulf Stream; average daily temperature 73°F (23°C); 50-65 inches of rain, most from June through September.

ECONOMY: Tourism, manufacturing, construction, agriculture—primarily citrus—illegal drugs.

CAPITAL: Tallahassee, pop. 82,000.

"WHOSE'S IT COMING FROM?"

AOL SHIP -

LIKE THE CURVED PART OF THE FRONT OF A SHIP.

THE NOISE IS FROM THE ~~AIR~~ AIR.

IT'S COMING FROM THE STRUCTURE.

"BLEEP / BLEEP / BLEEP

BRIGHT LIGHT.

JAGGED.

NOT A GOOD FEELING

WHOSE IS THIS BRIGHT LIGHT
COMING FROM?

I DON'T KNOW

3

WIDE OPEN AREA.

PIN POINT OF LIGHT OR SOMETHING COMING TO A POINT.

I COULD DRAW THAT,

BUSTLING SOUND. — LOUD.

CURVED — CURVED IN MANY PLACES

SHINY.

METALLIC — SOMETHING METAL.

AGE UFO.

WATER SOUND — LIKE DRIPPING
WATER

I STILL CAN'T SEE ANY PEOPLE.

" MOVE TO 10 AM, 12 APRIL, 1985 AT
THE SITE + DESCRIBE WHAT YOU SEE
GOING ON."

LOUD NOISE - HURTS MY EARS.

SOME KIND OF TRIANGLE SHAPE
ROCKLY UNEASY FEELING.

SOME FIGURES MOVING - AT LEAST 3 OR MORE.

"CAN YOU DESCRIBE THEM?"

SHORTER THAN PERSON -
4 FT. TALL?

COLLECTING SOMETHING.

1 FURTHER LIKE THOSE'S THOSE OR
